The concept of food and nutrition security has evolved and risen to the top of the international policy agenda over the last decade Yet it is a complex and multi faceted issue requiring a broad and inter disciplinary perspective for full understanding This Handbook represents the most comprehensive compilation of our current knowledge of food and nutrition security from a global perspective It is organized to reflect the wide scope of the contents its four sections corresponding to the accepted current definitional frameworks prevailing in the work of multilateral agencies and mainstream scholarship The first section addresses the struggles and progression of ideas and debates about the subject in recent years The other sections focus on three key themes how food has been is and should be made available including by improvements in agricultural productivity the ways in which politico economic and social arenas have shaped access to food and the effects of food and nutrition systems in addressing human health known as food utilisation Overall the volume synthesizes a vast field of information drawn from agriculture soil science climatology economics sociology human and physical geography the nutrition and health sciences environmental science and development studies Achieving sustainable cultivation of maize Volume 1 Dr Dave Watson,2017-06-09 Reviews key challenges and advances in maize breeding methods Discusses the development of varieties with enhanced nutritional and other properties such as improved protein content and abiotic stress resistance Summarises key steps being taken to support smallholders growing maize in developing countries Image Processing in Agriculture and Forestry Gonzalo Pajares Martinsanz,Francisco Rovira-Más,2018-09-27 This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue Image Processing in Agriculture and Forestry that was published in J Imaging Market imperfections for tractor service provision in Nigeria Takeshima, Hiroyuki,2016-07-01 In Nigeria despite the scarcity of tractors average horsepower and prices of tractors appear high These patterns are different from the experiences in other parts of the world where initially tractor horsepower was often smaller such as Asia or farmers were better endowed with land and wealth such as Latin America In Nigeria joint ownership of tractors is rare and formal loans are often unavailable due to high transactions costs IFPRI s survey in Kaduna and Nasarawa states in 2013 suggested that the spatial mobility of tractors is generally low and the use of tractors is highly seasonal There do not seem to be plausible explanations for the seeming dominance of large tractor use based on available information on prices and soils Nevertheless these patterns seem driven by the own initiative of the private sector rather than by government policies Indivisibility of large tractors and limited mobility of supplies may cause imperfections in the custom tractor hiring market In order to distinguish the impacts of technology adoption at the extensive margin from those at the intensive margin in the empirical analyses for the research presented here we tested these hypotheses focusing on the differences among marginal adopters of tractor hiring services and non adopters with similar characteristics The results are three fold 1 adoptions patterns of tractor services are partly explained by basic factor endowments suggesting that the market for custom hiring is in some way functioning efficiently in response to economic conditions 2 adoptions are however affected by supply side factors including the presence of large farm households and thus potential tractor owners within the district and 3 per capita household expenditure level differs significantly between the marginal adopters and non adopters with similar characteristics This difference seems to arise from adoption per se rather than the intensity of adoption which is consistent with the hypothesis of imperfection in the custom tractor hiring market Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh,2014-09-12 Linking smallholder farmers to commercial markets Ebata, Ayako,Hernandez, Manuel A.,2016-07-01 Access to modern commercialization channels is key for smallholder farmers to be able to move away from subsistence farming and overcome poverty However achieving that goal is challenging for smallholders given their lack of appropriate managerial practices production technology and infrastructure This paper examines the effect of receiving training in two different entrepreneurial practices designed to link farmers to commercial markets one direct aimed at the individual and farmer association level and another indirect focused at the community level We exploit an extensive panel dataset of staple bean farmers in Nicaragua who participated in a program run by a nongovernmental organization between 2007 2012 We find that the two market linkage training activities had opposite effects on the commercialization of beans especially on the intensive margin or volume of sales While receiving direct training on entrepreneurial practices is positively associated with sales in commercial markets training on municipality engagement ME activities is negatively associated The market linkage activities mainly affected entrant farmers as opposed to those already participating in commercial markets We further find varying effects of the ME activities by plot size and leadership position Additional results show that training activities that appear to work for bean producers do not necessarily work for other crop producers and vice versa
