(Hornbill) (Chapter – 3) (Discovering Tut: the Saga Continues) (Class – XI)

Question 4:

Knowledge about the past is useful to complete our knowledge of the world we live in.

Answer 4:

Understanding history is also important because it also tells us about some of the mistakes made by the ancestors. History helps us develop a better understanding of the world. History paints us a detailed picture of how society, technology, and government worked way back when so that we can better understand how it works now. History is the knowledge of and study of the past. It is the story of the past and a form of collective memory. History is the story of who we are, where we come from, and can potentially reveal where we are headed. There is a history of every field and topic, from medicine, to music, to art. To know and understand history is absolutely necessary, even though the results of historical study are not as visible, and less immediate.

Thinking about language

Question 1:

Read the following piece of information from The Encyclopedia of Language by David Crystal.

Egyptian is now extinct: its history dates from before the third millennium B.C., preserved in many hieroglyphic inscriptions and papyrus manuscripts. Around the second century A.D., it developed into a language known as Coptic. Coptic may still have been used as late as the early nineteenth century and is still used as a religious language by Monophysite Christians in Egypt.

Answer 1:

Read to learn more about Egyptian.

Question 2:

What do you think are the reasons for the extinction of languages?

Answer 2:

There are many reasons for the extinction of any language. If it is attacked and the attacking country imposes its own language, then its only language may become extinct. Even if a language is spoken in a limited range and the next generation does not carry on that tradition, then also the possibilities are more for its extinction. If there is shift in speaking other languages, that also contributes for extinction.

Question 3:

Do you think it is important to preserve languages?

Answer 3:

It is very important to preserve languages. It is very important to preserve the old languages from every point of view. For example, something is written on Taj Mahal, Agra in Persian & Arabic languages. If we do not have readers to share with us what is written, we'll never be able to understand the time and culture of five centuries do not back nor we'll have anything to give to next generation.

Question 4:

In what ways do you think we could help prevent the extinction of languages and dialects?

Answer 4:

There are few ways by which a language can be preserved. The government can introduce this in the curriculum upto primary classes. Encouraging younger generation to learn these languages help a lot. Nowadays with apps like Lingvist or Clozemaster, there are new opportunities for making language learning freely accessible to a wide population, so there might even be ways for a government to make a language more accessible to learn. They must encourage universities to open degree programs or special courses for learning endangered languages. Preserving a language is important since it embodies the culture and tradition of a particular group of people. When it dies, culture and oral traditions might also die with it.
