The Thomson Ecology Handbook Richard Arnold, 2017-05-09      House of Commons - Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee: Departmental Annual Report 2012-13 - HC741 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee, 2014-01-07 The Committee has examined the Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs Defra annual report and accounts for 2012 13 HC 40 session 2013 14 ISBN 9780102985672 Defra is one of the smallest of Government Departments but it has faced among the most substantial budget cuts which are set to continue up to 2016 Defra relies on a large number of arms length bodies to deliver many significant areas of policy Ministers must clarify how further budgets cuts of over 300 million over the coming 2 years will impact on the funding provided to these agencies and the ability of the Department to respond to emergencies exemplified by the flooding over Christmas and the New Year Among the most significant challenges facing the Department in the next 12 months is implementation of the new Common Agricultural Policy and there are risks that the introduction of a new digital system for delivering payments to farms will cause problems for those farmers who do not have access to rural broadband The Committee found that the results of the Defra staff survey revealed an increased lack of confidence in the management and leadership of the Department issues which must be addressed Further challenges facing Defra in the coming year include policy relating to bovine TB and badger culling its proposals on biodiversity offsetting the introduction of plastic bag charging and examining the role and potential of GM technology in food production      HC 942 - Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee - Work of the Committee: 2010-15 Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee, 2015      Introduction to Rural Planning Nick Gallent, Iqbal Hamiduddin, Meri Juntti, Sue Kidd, Dave Shaw, 2015-06-30 Introduction to Rural Planning Economies Communities and Landscapes provides a critical analysis of the key challenges facing rural places and the ways that public policy and community action shape rural spaces The second edition provides an examination of the composite nature of rural planning which combines land use and spatial planning elements with community action countryside management and the projects and programmes of national and supra national agencies and organisations It also offers a broad analysis of entrepreneurial social action as a shaper of rural outcomes with particular coverage of the localism agenda and Neighbourhood Planning in England With a focus on accessibility and rural transport provision this book examines the governance arrangements needed to deliver integrated solutions spanning urban and rural places Through an examination of the ecosystem approach to environmental planning it links the procurement of ecosystem services to the global challenges of habitat degradation and loss climate change and resource scarcity and management A valuable resource for students of planning rural development and rural geography Introduction to Rural Planning aims to make sense of current rural challenges and planning approaches evaluating the currency of the rural label in the context of global urbanisation arguing that rural spaces are relational spaces characterised green economy Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environmental Audit Committee, 2012-05-21 The Government has pledged to reduce over 10 000 pages of regulatory guidance following its Red Tape Challenge to help businesses comply with environmental laws But the MPs point out that regulations have an important role in safeguarding our health and the environment The Government's strategy to create a green economy Enabling the Transition to a Green Economy is too focused on voluntary action and fails to set a clear trajectory or any time bound milestones for businesses to achieve There is concern that introducing mandatory emissions reporting for big business has been delayed and Ministers are urged not to go back on their promise to do so The recent financial crisis has demonstrated the clear risks from such a market led approach particularly when markets do not reflect the value of the services provided by nature such as clean fresh water pollination of crops etc This report urges the Government to develop minimum sustainability standards set out how data on natural capital in the National Accounts will be used develop targets for improving the state of the environment and establish transparent reporting against such targets and use the Natural Capital Committee's work on a natural asset stock check as one of the basket of indicators used to measure the green economy The Government should fully incorporate the principles of Enabling the Transition into future revisions of the Plan for Growth Expenditure involved in making the transition to a green economy should be seen as an investment not simply a cost Integrating the Economy and the

Impacts of Climate Change on Human Health Clare Heaviside, 2021-01-05 Climate change poses a serious challenge to our health and wellbeing The increasing frequency of extreme weather events such as floods droughts and heatwaves and the direct impacts of changes in temperature have direct impacts on health At the same time broader environmental change affects infectious disease risk air pollution and other forms of exposure The different ways in which climate change will affect health are complex interactive and different communities are disproportionately affected International actions such as the Paris Agreement and the Sustainable Development Goals recognise the future risks to society and acknowledge that we are already committed to a certain level of climate change Future adaptation measures therefore need careful assessment and implementation for us to be able to minimise the potential risks from climate change and at the same time maximise the potential health benefits of a cleaner greener world This Special Issue comprises original research articles and detailed reviews on the likely impacts of climate change on health in a range of geographical settings and the potential for adaptation measures to reduce some of these risks Ultimately studies like these will motivate policy level action for mitigation and help in determining the most effective methods of adaptation to reduce negative impacts in future through embedding scientific evidence into practice

Towards a Convergence Between Science and Environmental Education Justin Dillon, 2016-10-14 In the World Library of Educationalists international scholars themselves compile career long collections of what they judge to be their finest pieces extracts from books key articles salient research findings major theoretical and practical contributions so the world can read them in a single manageable volume Readers thus are able to follow the themes and strands of their work and see their contribution to the development of a field as well as the development of the field itself Internationally recognized for his research on environmental education science engagement learning outside the classroom and teacher identity and development in this volume Justin Dillon brings together a thoughtfully crafted selection of his writing representing key aspects of his life and work leading to his current thinking on the need for a convergence of science and environmental education The chapters are organized around 7 themes On Habitus On methodological issues Developing theories of learning identity and culture Challenges and opportunities science the environment and the outdoors Classroom issues the emergence of Science Environment Health Science engagement and communication Science environment and sustainability

Liability and Environment Lucas Bergkamp, 2021-12-06 Liability and Environment analyzes the role of law in particular civil liability in controlling environmental pollution and risk In modern environmental policy liability has become a popular instrument In this book Prof Bergkamp takes a fresh look at civil liability for environmental harm in an inter and transnational context Over the last decade industry's liability exposure for environmental harm has expanded significantly At the international EC and national level proposals for onerous strict environmental liability regimes are pending The polluter pays principle which is an articulation of the cost internalization theory in the environmental area is believed to justify such liability regimes Applying an instrumental approach to legal instruments Prof Bergkamp aims to redefine the role of liability in the heavily regulated environmental area He shows that liability for environmental harm is not justified by the polluter pays principle is an uncertain and unreliable instrument for achieving prevention results in an inefficient insurance scheme and plays a dubious role in adjusting activity levels Based on an analysis of the basic characteristics of alternative legal instruments Prof Bergkamp concludes that civil liability should play a more modest limited role in an environmental law system dominated by public law Where deterrence is not the objective first party insurance compensation funds or other public law regimes should be preferred over liability rules In addition to civil liability of private parties Liability and Environment discusses State liability under international EC and national law Under international law breach of a primary obligation triggers a State s liability Prof Bergkamp argues that this rule should be applied also to liability of private parties In the environmental area a business primary obligations are spelled out in detailed permit conditions regulations and statutes According to Prof Bergkamp only if a primary obligation is breached a private person should be liable for environmental harm The system that Bergkamp advocates is an objective fault liability regime in which public environmental law defines the standard of care for both government and industry In rebuilding our civil liability system we should keep in mind that what is good for industry should be good for everyone or it is not good for anyone we should keep in mind that what is good for private parties should be good for the state or it is not good for either In rebuilding our civil liability system the international law of State responsibility which is unpolluted by risk spreading and activity level considerations will guide us a long way This book is aimed at advanced law students academic scholars and practitioners In addition it will be of interest to policy and legislative analysts legislators and government officials Professor Bergkamp s book cannot be described as solving the problems of legal and regulatory control of environmental harm whether within a nation or internationally As suggested before however the very idea of a solution is illusory All legal and regulatory regimes around the world are today and will remain for the future in a state of perpetually continuing development The virtue of this fine book is that it moves the process of that development forward by a very substantial measure from the Foreword by George L Priest
