Parades End English Edition:

Parade's End: The Complete Tetralogy Madox Ford, 2023-12-05 Parade's End: The Complete Tetralogy is a masterful exploration of the shifting social and political landscapes during the tumultuous years leading up to and including World War I. Through the profound and intricate narrative style that blends modernist techniques with traditional storytelling, Madox Ford delves into the complexities of marriage, duty, and identity. The tetralogy comprises four interrelated novels that vividly portray the psychological turmoil of its protagonist, Christopher Tietjens, as he navigates the expectations of Edwardian society and the harrowing experiences of war, all punctuated by rich, poignant dialogue and multi-layered characterizations. Madox Ford, a prominent literary figure and a contemporary of figures such as Joseph Conrad and Ezra Pound, was deeply influenced by his experiences as a soldier and his observations of societal changes during his lifetime. This tetralogy reflects Ford's own struggles with the ideals of honor and masculinity, as well as his critique of the class structures of early 20th-century England. His unique blend of personal and political narratives draws upon his own engagement with the themes of love, betrayal, and the fragile nature of human relationships. For readers interested in a profound examination of human resilience and the impact of historical events on individual lives, Parade's End is an indispensable literary work. It invites readers to consider the nuanced interplay of personal and collective experience in shaping identity and legacy, making it a crucial addition to the canon of modernist literature. The First World War has given rise to a multifaceted cultural production like no other historical event. This handbook surveys British literature and film about the war from 1914 until today. The continuing interest in World War I highlights the interdependence of war experience, the imaginative re-creation of that experience in writing and individual as well as collective memory. In the first part of the handbook, the major genres of war writing and film are addressed, including of course poetry and the novel, but also the short story. Furthermore, it is shown how our conception of the Great War is broadened when looked at from the perspective of gender studies and post-colonial criticism. The chapters in the second part present close readings of important contributions to the literary and filmic representation of World War I in Great Britain. All in all, the contributions demonstrate how the opposing forces of focusing and canon formation on the one hand and broadening and revision of the canon on the other have characterised British literature and culture of the First World War. Parade's End Ford Madox Ford, 2001. In creating his acclaimed masterpiece Parade's End, Ford Madox Ford wanted the novelist in fact to appear in his really proud position as historian of his own time. The subject was the world as it culminated in the war. Published in four parts between 1924 and 1928, his extraordinary novel centers on Christopher Tietjens, an officer and gentleman, the last English Tory, and follows him from the secure, orderly world of Edwardian England into the chaotic madness of the First World War. Against the backdrop of a world at war, Ford recounts the complex sexual warfare between Tietjens and his faithless wife Sylvia. A work of truly amazing subtlety and profundity, Parade's End affirms Graham Greene's prediction: There is no novelist of this century more likely to live than Ford Madox Ford.
