Warrington,Melvin Calvin,1950 The gas exchange by barley leaves of oxygen carbon dioxide and added radiocarbon dioxide has been measured in a closed system with the following results 1 Carbon dioxide follows different but not necessarily independent paths in photosynthesis and light respiration 2 The carbon of newly formed photosynthetic intermediates is not available for respiration while the light is on but becomes immediately respirable in the dark The enhancement of dark respiration after a light period is largely due to built up photosynthates 3 Photosynthesis proceeds at a measurable rate even at the lowest CO₂ pressures observed 0.03 mm Hg There is no evidence for a threshold concentration of carbon dioxide for the reaction at the lowest concentrations reached respiration exactly equals assimilation 4 The mean rate of respiratory CO₂ evolution in strong light was found to be less than that in the dark Internal re photosynthesis of respiratory carbon may have been sufficient to account for this effect 5 The assimilation of C¹⁴O₂ is about 17% slower than that of C¹²O₂ Photosynthesis and Respiration Progress Report J.
