Results Of Students Admitted At Makerere University2015:

Research Universities in Africa Cloete, Nico,Bunting, Ian,2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

Pediatric Critical Care in Resource-Limited Settings Krishan Chugh,Ndidi Musa,Phuc Huu Phan,Srinivas Murthy,Yves Ouellette,2019-07-11 Millions of children are dying each year with preventable and reversible critical illness including circulatory shock and respiratory failure According to the World Health Organization in 2015 the under five mortality rate in low income countries was 76 deaths per 1000 live births about 11 times the average rate in high income countries 7 deaths per 1000 live births There is limited data about the nature of the delivery of critical care in resource limited regions The care of critically ill children in low resource settings is challenging contributing factors include limitations in the existing infrastructure lack of resources and low numbers of appropriately trained healthcare workers Meeting these challenges requires clinical evidence pertinent to the local settings adequate number of well trained personnel quality improvement activities and the ongoing development of preventative measures In addition approaches to prevent worsening critical illness in at risk hospitalized patients are needed We are presenting 15 state of the art manuscripts from international experts from all settings involved in the care of critically ill children in resource limited settings This collection of manuscripts covers topics including education research clinical experience and infectious diseases We hope that we are providing a window into the future of critical care delivery for all children around the world The Boy Is Gone Laura Lee P. Huttenbach, 2015-06-08

A story with the power to change how people view the last years of colonialism in East Africa The Boy Is Gone portrays the struggle for Kenyan independence in the words of a freedom fighter whose life spanned the twentieth century's most dramatic transformations Born into an impoverished farm family in the Meru Highlands Japhlet Thambu grew up wearing goatskins and lived to stand before his community dressed for business in a pressed suit crisp tie and freshly polished shoes For most of the last four decades however he dressed for work in the primary school classroom and on his lush tea farm The General as he came to be called from his leadership of the Mau Mau uprising sixty years ago narrates his life story in conversation with Laura Lee Huttenbach a young American who met him while backpacking in Kenya in 2006 A gifted storyteller with a keen appreciation for language and a sense of responsibility as a repository of his people's history the General talks of his childhood in the voice of a young boy his fight against the British in the voice of a soldier and his long life in the voice of shrewd elder While his life experiences are his alone his story adds immeasurably to the long history of decolonization as it played out across Africa Asia and the Americas
