Suitcases And Backpacks Growing Through The Holocaust:

Suitcases and Backpacks Chava Kohavi Pines, 2014-09-30 Suitcases and Backpacks is a testimony of intricate detail that describes a young girl's survival in ghettos and concentration camps between 1942 and 1945. Readers follow her heartbreaking journey from Vienna to the Theresienstadt Ghetto to Auschwitz to a labor camp near Breslau followed by the alienation she feels upon returning to Vienna, her subsequent journey to Prague and finally the realization of her dream to immigrate to Palestine. Chava Kohavi Pines was born Eva Hirsch in 1927 in Vienna, Austria, to a middle class Jewish family. Since immigrating to Palestine in 1946, the author has resided in Kibbutz Dorot in the northern Negev where she worked as a teacher and counselor for years. Only with forty years' distance from the trauma of her youth has she been able to write an account of some of her experiences under Hitler.

Bags, Burlap and Cotton, 1929 THE BLACK BUG - The Second Black Holocaust, Three Bags Full Roger Burlingame, 1936 A panoramic novel of New York State in the story of Hendrik Van Huyten and his attempt to sustain a little Holland in the midst of encroaching America. He acquired a feudal domain; a town grew up at his gates but he scarcely noticed it. His children strayed from the paths he laid down for them but only one escaped utterly. From him came a strain that paralleled and disturbed each succeeding generation until the modern generation recognized in it a vitality the direct strain lacked and found romance as well. It's grand reading with a period of 150 years and many generations.

Kirkus Apocalyptic Discourse in Contemporary Culture Monica Germana, Aris Mousoutzanis, 2014-09-15 This interdisciplinary collection of essays focuses on critical and theoretical responses to the apocalypse of the late twentieth and early twenty-first century cultural production. Examining the ways in which apocalyptic discourses have had an impact on how we read the world's globalized space, the traumatic burden of history and the mutual relationship between language and eschatological belief, fifteen original essays by a group of internationally established and emerging critics reflect on the apocalypse's past, tradition, pervasive present and future legacy. The collection seeks to offer a new reading of the apocalypse understood as a complex and frequently paradoxical paradigm of contemporary Western culture. The majority of published collections on the subject have been published prior to the year 2000 and in their majority of cases locate the apocalypse in the future and envision it as something imminent. This collection offers a post-millennial perspective that perceives the end as immanent and simultaneously rooted in the past tradition.

Jews and Intermarriage in Nazi Austria Evan Burr Bukey, 2010-12-31 Evan Burr Bukey explores the experience of intermarried couples, marriages with Jewish and non-Jewish partners and their children in Vienna.

after Germany's seizure of Austria in 1938. These families coped with changing regulations that disrupted family life, pitted relatives against each other, and raised profound questions about religious, ethnic, and national identity. Bukey finds that although intermarried couples lived in a state of fear and anxiety, many managed to mitigate delay or even escape Nazi sanctions. Drawing on extensive archival research, his study reveals how hundreds of them pursued ingenious strategies to preserve their assets, to improve their racial status, and above all, to safeguard the position of their children. It also analyzes cases of intermarried partners who chose divorce, as well as persons involved in illicit liaisons with non-Jews. Jews and Intermarriage in Nazi Austria concludes that although most of Vienna's intermarried Jews survived the Holocaust, several hundred Jewish partners were deported to their deaths, and children of such couples were frequently subjected to Gestapo harassment.

Conversations with Dvora Amia Lieblich, Devorah Baron, 1997-01-01 The life of Dvora Baron, 1887-1956, evokes both inspiration and mystery. She was born in a Russian shtetl, the precocious daughter of a rabbi. Her intellectual gifts garnered her an education usually reserved for boys, and she soon proved a brilliant writer, widely published while still in her teens. At age twenty-three, she immigrated to Palestine, married a prominent Zionist journalist, and joined the literary intelligentsia of the emerging nation. Her writing showed startlingly modernist points of view: a day-old baby girl in The First Day and a female Jewish dog in Liska, for example, and she took on such topics as divorce, incest, Grandma Henya, and domestic violence in A Quarreling Couple. But when her beloved brother died in 1923, Baron retired to her apartment. There, she spent the last thirty years of her life in touch with the literary community but rejecting her early stories as "my rags." She never left her residence and spent most of her time in bed, tended by her daughter. Israeli writer and psychologist Amia Lieblich was seventeen when Dvora Baron died; the two women never met. But Lieblich has written this biography as a series of conversations taking place in Dvora's darkened room during the last year of her life. Lieblich's vividly realized portrait elicits Dvora's memories of childhood, the descriptions of traditional women's lives in her writing, a view of her eccentric marriage and odd relationship with her daughter, and her thoughts on work, life, and death. Dvora is a living presence in these conversations. Lieblich approaches her as one of the great creative spirits of Hebrew literature Having undergone a crisis in her own life Liebling seeks out Baron as a source of wisdom and direction The result is an unusual and moving literary psychological adventure that merges Dvora Baron's world with that of an Israeli woman today The life of Dvora Baron 1887-1956 evokes both inspiration and mystery She was born in a Russian shtetl the precocious daughter of a rabbi Her intellectual gifts garnered her an education usually reserved for boys and she soon proved a brilliant writer widely published while still in her teens At age twenty three she immigrated to Palestine married a prominent Zionist journalist and joined the literary intelligentsia of the emerging nation Her writing showed startlingly modernist points of view a day old baby girl in The First Day and a female Jewish dog in Liska for example and she took on such topics as divorce Fradl incest Grandma Henya and domestic violence A Quarreling Couple But when her beloved brother died in 1923 Baron retired to her apartment There she spent the last thirty years of her life in touch with the literary community but rejecting her early stories as my rags She never left her residence and spent most of her time in bed tended by her daughter Israeli writer and psychologist Amia Liebling was seventeen when Dvora Baron died the two women never met But Liebling has written this biography as a series of conversations taking place in Dvora's darkened room during the last year of her life Liebling's vividly realized portrait elicits Dvora's memories of childhood the descriptions of traditional women's lives in her writing a view of her eccentric marriage and odd relationship with her daughter and her thoughts on work life and death Dvora is a living presence in these conversations Liebling approaches her as one of the great creative spirits of Hebrew literature Having undergone a crisis in her own life Liebling seeks out Baron as a source of wisdom and direction The result is an unusual and moving literary psychological adventure that merges Dvora Baron's world with that of an Israeli woman today
