

Baby P – Lord Laming report 2009

- Failure of agencies to share information
- Social workers over-stretched
- Red-tape+form filling hampering front-line staff
- “Over-complicated, lengthy and tick-box assessment+recording system.”
- Child protection seen as ‘Cinderella Service’
- Too many authorities failed to adopt his reforms following Victoria Climbié report in 2000
- “It seems like they have to do all this form filling. Their bosses make them do it but it makes them forget about us” – 16-year-old in care

Summary Of Laming Report:

Effective Management of Bladder and Bowel Problems in Children Mandy Wells, 2007-07-02 Under normal circumstances a child will gain control of his or her bladder and bowels by the age of four. If this does not happen the child's social, mental and physical health can be affected. Health professionals have a duty of care to enable continence problems to be overcome as far as possible. This book explains how this can be done.

Reflective Practice in Social Work Andy Mantell, Terry Scragg, 2018-12-03 This accessible and introductory text explores a range of reflective practice approaches and personal development to help students demonstrate reflective practice in their assignments. It features extensive material on working collaboratively and using reflective practice on placements as well as practical activities and material on effective working with service users and care.

Effective Safeguarding for Children and Young People Blyth, Maggie, Solomon, Enver, 2012-02-08 The number of children entering the child protection system has risen dramatically in the last three years with implications for children's services and partner agencies. This timely volume takes a critical look at the impact of the Munro Review 2011 on child protection and the Government's response. It looks at questions including how effective Local Safeguarding Children Boards are in providing the necessary scrutiny to ensure children are safe, how the early offer of help at local level might reduce the numbers of children at the critical end of the spectrum and whether reducing regulation from the centre will result in better outcomes for the most vulnerable. Moreover, it also considers those young people who traditionally bypass child protection services but remain at risk of harm. These are critical questions for both policy and practice in understanding the reforms. Munro states are required.

Contributions from leading experts working in the child protection system review current safeguarding policy and explore the future after Munro.

Critical Analysis Skills for Social Workers David Wilkins, Godfred Boahen, 2013-05-16 Dr David Wilkins is a Senior Lecturer at the University of Bedfordshire, UK. Dr Godfred Boahen is a Policy and Research Officer at the British Association of Social Workers (BASW), UK.

How can social workers develop their critical analysis skills? What role does critical analysis play in the day-to-day activities of a social worker? And can we critically analyse in isolation? The ability to analyse contexts, scenarios and service users through a critical lens is vital to effective social work practice. Despite this, many social workers attempt to analyse situations alone, missing marks of significance. This book, written by two senior academics and practitioners who at the time were in the midst of their PhDs, offers a basis step-by-step model that busy social workers can use to develop a more critical and analytical mindset. It shows how analysis can be woven throughout the whole process of social work engagement, resulting in more effective decision-making, more efficient ways of working and ultimately better outcomes for social work service users. This is achieved by ways of handy tools, case studies and dilemmas, research summaries and exercises and reflections, points to tackle alone or with a colleague. Topics covered include: What analysis is and why it is such an important skill in social work practice. The skills that underpin critical analysis such as time management, planning, critical understanding, logical thinking.

research mindedness creativity communication reflection and hypothesising The role of emotion and intuition in critical analysis The importance of supervision and team or supervised analysis This book forms part of the Social Work Skills in Practice series The series focuses on key social work skills required for working with children and adult service users families and carers The books offer both theoretical and evidence informed knowledge alongside the application of skills relevant for day to day social work practice They are an invaluable resource for pre qualifying students newly qualified social workers academics teaching and researching in the field as well as social work practitioners including practice educators pursuing continuous professional development A timely and appropriate post Munro book for social workers at all levels of experience The chapter on emotion intuition and critical analysis is a particularly welcome addition to the subject A really useful book Dr Jane Reeves Director of Studies M A Child Protection Co Director Centre for Child Protection University of Kent UK

Reflective Practice in Social Work Christine Knott,Terry Scragg,2016-03-26 Reflective practice is at the heart of becoming a competent and confident social worker It s both a key element of learning and development on social work courses and an important aspect of social work practice This accessible and introductory text explores a range of approaches to reflective practice that aims to help students become more confident in answering key questions including what is reflective practice how do I develop as a reflective practitioner how do I maintain reflective practice in key contexts There are sections on writing reflective journals communicating well with service users and carers and reflective practice while on placements
