

My life with the wave

Octavio Paz

The male narrator visits the sea, and as he is leaving, a single wave "[clutches his] arm" and "[goes] leaping off" to town with him. The narrator tries to convince her to return to the sea, but the wave vehemently insists on staying with him. The next day, the narrator anxiously tries to determine how to transport "his friend" undetected on the train ride back to the city. He arrives at the station early and pours her into the train car's drinking fountain.

During the ride, several passengers attempt to drink from the fountain, but the narrator blocks their path. A woman finally manages to fill her cup and drink from it and announces that the water is salty. Her husband calls the conductor, who in turn calls the inspector, police, captain, and three agents, all of whom accuse the narrator of poisoning the water. At the next station, the agents detain the narrator and bring him to jail. After days of interrogation, the magistrate assigns him to the penal judge because of the case's "difficulty." The narrator is tried a year later and receives a "light" sentence because there were no victims of his alleged crime.

On his "day of freedom", he takes the train to Mexico City and is surprised to return home to the wave waiting for him. She explains that someone emptied her from the water fountain into the train engine, which transformed her into "a white plume of vapor" and then "a fine rain" , allowing her to arrive at his apartment. The wave's "presence [changed his] life" —the narrator's house is now filled with constant light and joy. He describes their love as "a game, a perpetual creation" that has the power to transform them both . Despite this, the narrator concludes that unlike other women, the wave has no "center," no "secret place that renders you vulnerable and mortal"—"just an emptiness like a whirlwind that sucked me in and smothered me"). They continue to share secrets and intimate moments, but the wave becomes "black and bitter", moody and violent. The narrator tries to console her by filling the house with objects and animals of the sea, including a colony of fish. The wave spends much of her time with the fish, until one day the narrator's jealousy overwhelms him, and he tries to kill them. The wave nearly drowns him but saves him just in time. This humiliating moment leads the narrators to "fear and hate" the wave. Having neglected other parts of his life since the wave arrived, the narrator begins to renew his "old and dear relations" , including an old girlfriend. He divulges to her about his secret life with the wave, which compels the woman to try and help him, but is unable to accomplish anything because of the wave's "incessant metamorphoses". When winter comes, the wave becomes even more temperamental, restless, and violent. She wreaks havoc in the apartment and lashes out

The United Stories of America Rolf Lundén, 2022-06-08 This book discusses the American short story composite or short story cycle a neglected form of writing consisting of autonomous stories interlocking into a whole The critical work done on this genre has so far focused on the closural strategies of the composites on how unity is accomplished in these texts This study takes into consideration to a greater degree than earlier criticism the short story composite as an open work emphasizing the tension between the independent stories and the unified work between the discontinuity and fragmentation on the one hand and the totalizing strategies on the other The discussion of the genre is illustrated with references to numerous American short story composites

Professor Shulamit Ramon Anglia Polytechnic University Cambridge This book fills a gap in our knowledge about the experiences of families of people suffering from severe mental illness Original research material is used to support claims that families are struggling with complex feelings such as loss anger and shame It is also argued that the ideas families themselves hold about mental illness form an important part of the cultural world in which mental illnesses are understood

This stimulating book challenges many conventional assumptions about family relationships by arguing that they have to be understood in terms of myths that bring a certain amount of order to complex areas of emotional life The author argues that families if properly understood can provide significant support for people with severe mental illness

Armando J. Calonge M.,2019-08-13 This collection of short stories takes you to many exciting places the author has lived in and traveled it exposes you to the struggles and losses of individuals that have escaped from authoritarian regimes such as Cuba and the Soviet Union to find freedom in the United States of America It reaches from betrayal and narcissism and the damage done to others to the charming innocence of a child asking to be told a story and the reminiscing of an old man who tells his Japanese friend how progress distorted his life s memories There are unexpected twists to many of these stories not to forget a subtle sense of humor that both intrigue and touch the heart Views from the Road I Traveled Henry M. Kissman,2008-10-10 In this autobiography Henry Kissman describes his journey from a boyhood in prewar Austria to life in America and how he survived the displacements and losses of wartime and built a life devoted to scientific inquiry and public service As a prosperous Jewish family in the city of Graz the Kissmans became Nazi targets immediately after the German takeover of Austria in 1938 Henrys parents were both jailed on trumped up charges and were stripped of everything they owned including their successful lumber export business Henry age 15 at the time was able to flee to England his younger sister followed on a Kindertransport a few months later After 9 months his parents were expelled from Austria Eventually they also reached England where they lived and worked throughout the war In December 1939 Henry was able to emigrate to the U S After living with relatives in New York City for a time he worked at various factory jobs in New Jersey and completed his high school education at night Through a scholarship he was able to earn a degree at Sterling College in Kansas in 1944 He was then drafted into the Army where he first served as a combat medic with the 10th Mountain Division in northern Italy and later as a counter intelligence agent with the U S occupation forces in Germany After discharge from the Army Henry obtained advanced degrees in organic chemistry with the help of the GI Bill Eventually he joined a research group at a pharmaceutical company where he worked on biologically active substances such as antibiotics and steroids In 1955 he met Lee Cohn his wife to be They married in January 1956 Beginning in the mid sixties Henrys interests changed from laboratory research to developing innovative ways of managing scientific information He directed such information projects at the U S Food Drug Administration and then at the National Library of Medicine until his retirement in 1992 In My Life Opiew O. Cham,2011-10-13 The idea that I write my memoirs came to me when I had barely begun to live in Kaufman Texas and continued all through the years But I never paid heed to the plan I was living my life intensely what need to write about it Another reason for my reluctance was the conviction I entertained that one should write about one s life only when one had ceased to stand in the very torrent of it When one has reached a good philosophic age I used to tell my friends capable of viewing the tragedies and comedies of life impersonally and detachedly particularly one's own life one is likely to create an autobiography worthwhile Still feeling adolescently young in spite of advancing years I did not consider myself competent to undertake such a task Moreover I always lacked the necessary leisure for concentrated writing I discovered much to my discomfiture that old age far from ripening wisdom and mellowness is too often fraught with senility narrowness and petty rancor I would not risk such a calamity and I began to think seriously about writing my life biography I am a very nostalgic person As long as I can remember I have enjoyed thinking about the past and how it melded into the present especially in reference to my own life and my own family history This life story is about over all my life in Africa and United States of America I had included the stories about my parents relatives what life was like for them and what they were doing when they were alive I like looking at old pictures and other mementos that help bring some of that past back to life or just evoke the spirit of the memories This story is about my childhood life I had in Ethiopia refugee camp and United States of America and my family as seen through my eyes It is my snapshot my memories to share with the world Now I do not know why anyone would be interested in my life but I hope a few people especially family will find it interesting and to help keep it interesting I promise to keep chapters and stories short concise and to the point After all nothing is more boring than someone's tedious diatribe about something so entirely mundane If you get to that point just skip to another story and just try to find something interesting and of value to you If you still can't find anything of value in the reading then I apologize but still thank you for trying As for me I believed I had more fun writing this than anyone would ever have reading it
