Podrazik, 2024-12-16 Castleman and Podrazik present a season by season narrative that encompasses the eras of American television from the beginning in broadcast through cable and now streaming They deftly navigate the dizzying array of contemporary choices so that no matter where you start on the media timeline Watching TV provides the context and background to this multi billion dollar enterprise Drawing on decades of research the authors weave together personalities popular shows corporate strategies historical events and changing technologies enhancing the main commentary with additional elements that include fall prime time schedule grids for every season date box timelines highlighted key text and selected photos Full of facts firsts insights and exploits from now back to the earliest days Watching TV is the standard chronology of American television and reading it is akin to channel surfing through history The fourth edition updates the story into the 2020s and looks ahead to the next waves of change This new edition is the first to also be available in a digital format The Social Organization of the Gilyak Lev I[A]kovlevich Shternberg, 1999 In this first English edition anthropologist Bruce Grant builds a fresh analysis of Shternberg s classic study by adding a Foreword examining Shternberg s work and life new glossaries a Shternberg time line maps expository footnotes archival notes and an interview with one of Shternberg s former students BOOK JACKET The Common-good of Civic and Social Rochester ,1910 The Athenaeum ,1915 Reinventing Structuralism Rodney B. Sangster, 2013-05-28 This monograph argues that the structuralist movement in linguistics was curtailed prematurely before its contribution to cognitive science could be fully realized Building upon Roman Jakobson s pioneering work on the nature of the linguistic sign a new and detailed appreciation of the role of sign relations in the ultimate structuring of consciousness is presented proving that the structural approach has as much to contribute today as any current cognitive theory This study takes the view that the structure which linguistic signs themselves evince should be treated as an organic property of mind in its own right as the device by which the ultimate differences in meaning in the human cognitive sphere are realized Adherence to this principle assumes not only that the linguistic sign must be fundamentally monosemic but also that the level of abstraction at which the relations between signs function must lie beyond the logical or rational level where polysemy is the rule The study demonstrates that while the conceptual relations or categories uncovered at such a higher order level of consciousness are of necessity highly abstract and hidden from normal awareness they are nevertheless neither ineffable nor devoid of content Rather the categories identified and defined in this study are shown to have verifiable correlates at the supra rational level where transpersonal rather than ego oriented psychology operates the level that Jung termed the collective unconscious It is here that we find corresponding properties in reports from altered states of consciousness in the structure of myths worldwide as well as in studies of the image making capacity of the human mind Ultimately when the structure of actual linguistic signs is treated as an ordered set of conceptual relations one necessarily arrives at the conclusion that the sign relations of different languages are anything but Whorfian but are all pointing to the same universal set of conceptual properties This set of properties is then shown to be able to account for the relations between signs in all areas of linguistic structure from the grammatical to the lexical and the syntactic The monograph goes on to provide a detailed account of the process of making reference of how speakers are able to contextualize the truly abstract conceptual relations inherent in the structure of signs in their language to produce a potentially infinite variety of polysemous meanings in actual speech situations at whatever level of concreteness they choose and how the feedback from such acts of communication determines the evolutionary trajectory of a system of signs conceived as a living organism specifically as a neuronal structure inherent in the human brain operating as a fundamentally probabilistic or stochastic system Athenaeum ,1862 Kirberger's monthly gazette of English literature ,
