Summary Of Chapters Medical Apartheid:

Medical Apartheid Harriet A. Washington, 2008-01-08 NATIONAL BOOK CRITICS CIRCLE AWARD WINNER The first full history of Black America's shocking mistreatment as unwilling and unwitting experimental subjects at the hands of the medical establishment No one concerned with issues of public health and racial justice can afford not to read this masterful book Washington has unearthed a shocking amount of information and shaped it into a riveting carefully documented book New York Times From the era of slavery to the present day starting with the earliest encounters between Black Americans and Western medical researchers and the racist pseudoscience that resulted Medical Apartheid details the ways both slaves and freedmen were used in hospitals for experiments conducted without their knowledge a tradition that continues today within some black populations It reveals how Blacks have historically been prey to grave robbing as well as unauthorized autopsies and dissections Moving into the twentieth century it shows how the pseudoscience of eugenics and social Darwinism was used to justify experimental exploitation and shoddy medical treatment of Blacks Shocking new details about the government's notorious Tuskegee experiment are revealed as are similar less well known medical atrocities conducted by the government the armed forces prisons and private institutions The product of years of prodigious research into medical journals and experimental reports long undisturbed Medical Apartheid reveals the hidden underbelly of scientific research and makes possible for the first time an understanding of the roots of the African American health deficit At last it provides the fullest possible context for comprehending the behavioral fallout that has caused Black Americans to view researchers and indeed the whole medical establishment with such deep distrust

The Rats Had Never Left Abdusamaad (Sam) Karani, 2023-01-05 Systemic racism underlies post colonial societies due in part to the undeniable legacy of historical racism The conquering colonist often mistakenly referred to as the settler colonist dominated the colonized especially their minds Overcoming destructive colonialism and systemic racism requires the decolonization of the mind the mutually embedded mindsets of the conqueror and the colonized Eliminating this legacy requires that we know who we are and admit to and rectify past mistakes The Rats Had Never Left draws on the lived experiences of Abdusamaad Sam Karani in Apartheid South Africa including his personal advocacy for mental health and psychology in society and the cost he paid in the process Having lived abroad in London UK and now Canada Karani shares his experiences with the destructive legacy of systemic racism Liberal democracies need to overcome the legacy of systemic racism So how do we move forward How do we keep ourselves from being stuck in the destructiveness of the blame game Enhancing tolerance is the way forward The racialized must not be reluctant to take the initiative Society's institutions police the justice system etc need to self reflect for long term change keeping in mind that power has traditionally never been shared as a natural process with society's disadvantaged

Good Science Charis Thompson,2013-12-20 An examination of a decade and a half of political controversy ethical debate and scientific progress in stem cell research After a decade and a half human pluripotent stem cell research has been normalized There may be no consensus on the status of the embryo only a tacit agreement to disagree but the debate now takes place in a context in which human stem cell research and related technologies already exist In this book Charis Thompson investigates the evolution of the controversy over human pluripotent stem cell research in the United States and proposes a new ethical approach for good science Thompson traces political ethical and scientific developments that came together in what she characterizes as a procurial framing of innovation based on concern with procurement of pluripotent cells and cell lines a pro cures mandate and a proliferation of bio curatorial practices Thompson describes what she calls the ethical choreography that allowed research to go on as the controversy continued The intense ethical attention led to some important discoveries as scientists attempted to invent around ethical roadblocks Some ethical concerns were highly legible but others were hard to raise in the dominant procurial framing that allowed government funding for the practice of stem cell research to proceed despite controversy Thompson broadens the debate to include such related topics as animal and human research subjecthood and altruism Looking at fifteen years of stem cell debate and discoveries Thompson argues that good science and good ethics are mutually reinforcing rather than antithetical in contemporary biomedicine

Systematic Reviews of Research in Basic Education in South Africa Felix Maringe, 2021-04-09 Maringe ought to be commended for putting together an invaluable contribution to our understanding of research into a complex education system in South Africa This volume provides a useful foundation to the current state of education quality in South Africa including the impact of interventions It also brings to the fore challenges still facing education transformation The evidence presented which taken together lays out a coherent view of how improvements could be made Albert Chanee Head of Planning Gauteng Department of Education For too long the weight of educational scholarship produced in South Africa has been limited to that simple and standard form called the literature review Now for the first time education researchers are provided with an African based text on the concepts and methods of conducting systematic reviews In this exceptional work of editorship Felix Maringe brings together some of the leading researchers on South African education to model and demonstrate how to review a significant body of research on a chosen topic which is adjudicated strictly on the basis of the quality and efficacy of the evidence in hand I have no doubt that this remarkable book will become a standard reference for educational researchers in and beyond the African continent It will also lift the quality of educational inquiry by equipping a new generation of scholars with the capacity for doing evidence based research that compels the attention of policymakers planners and practitioners alike Prof Jonathan Jansen Stellenbosch University

Living and Dying Well Charles Camosy, 2025-07-14 The complex paradoxical relationship with death in the consumerist West is playing out in ways that are quite dramatic Our culture is now at a tipping point when it comes to physician assisted killing PAK A Catholic understanding of what it means to die well and by extension what it means to live well and what it means to help others to live and die well provides an essential way of resisting the existential threat to human dignity posed by PAK As individuals and communities we must work to create a counterculture of encounter and hospitality to resist the eugenic culture of death and the throwaway culture of consumerism Living and Dying Well builds on both Sacred Scripture and Tradition diving into Jesus paradigmatic example of how to die and live and the example of saints monks and Catholic healthcare providers This book challenges all of us to live and die with these values and practices in mind as individuals as families and as broader Church communities and institutions This book includes general and practical reminders for the last things clinical red flags and options for responding to physician assisted killing and trustworthy Catholic resources for end of life care

Mad Studies Reader Bradley Lewis,Alisha Ali,Jazmine Russell,2024-09-30 The last few years have brought increased writings from activists artists scholars and concerned clinicians that cast a critical and constructive eye on psychiatry mental health care and the cultural relations of mental difference With particular focus on accounts of lived experience and readings that cover issues of epistemic and social injustice in mental health discourse the Mad Studies Reader brings together voices that advance anti sanist approaches to scholarship practice art and activism in this realm Beyond offering a theoretical and historical overview of mad studies this Reader draws on the perspectives voices and experiences of artists mad pride activists humanities and social science scholars and critical clinicians to explore the complexity of mental life and mental difference Voices from these groups confront and challenge standard approaches to mental difference They advance new structures of meaning and practice that are inclusive of those who have been systematically subjugated and promote anti sanist approaches to counter inequalities prejudices and discrimination Confronting modes of psychological oppression and the power of a few to interpret and define difference for so many the Mad Studies Reader asks the critical question of how these approaches may be reconsidered resisted and reclaimed This collection will be of interest to mental health clinicians students and scholars of the arts humanities and social sciences and anyone who has been affected by mental difference directly or indirectly who is curious to explore new perspectives

Blood Sugar Anthony Ryan Hatch,2016-04-10 Why do African Americans have exceptionally high rates of hypertension diabetes and obesity Is it their genes Their disease prone culture Their poor diets Such racist explanations for racial inequalities in metabolic health have circulated in medical journals for decades Blood Sugar analyzes and challenges the ways in which metabolic syndrome has become a major biomedical category that medical researchers have created to better understand the risks high blood pressure blood sugar body fat and cholesterol pose to people An estimated sixty million Americans are well on the way to being diagnosed with it many of them belonging to people of color Anthony Ryan Hatch argues that the syndrome represents another very real crisis and that its advent signals a new form of colorblind scientific racism a repackaging of race within biomedical and genomic research Examining the cultural discussions and scientific practices that target human metabolism of prescription drugs and sugar by African Americans he reveals how medical researchers who use metabolic syndrome to address racial inequalities in health have in effect reconstructed race as a fixed biological genetic feature of bodies without incorporating social and economic inequalities into the equation And just as the causes of metabolic syndrome are framed in racial terms so are potential drug treatments and nutritional health interventions The first sustained social and political inquiry of metabolic syndrome this provocative and timely book is a crucial contribution to the emerging literature on race and medicine It will engage those who seek to understand how unjust power relations shape population health inequalities and the production of medical knowledge and biotechnologies health practice Zero Hour: A Countdown to the Collapse of South Africa's Apartheid System Geoffrey Hebdon, 2022-07-15

This enlightening book focuses on the history of how the ethnic groups of Africa eventually joined by white colonizers from Europe created the seedbed for the hateful apartheid system in Southern Africa. The reader learns how apartheid began the dehumanizing effects it had on the black population and how it was finally abolished in its zero hour in 1994. Written by historian, writer and researcher Geoffrey Hebdon, this is the second in a series that covers the experience of a British citizen who emigrated to South Africa during that era and records in vivid detail his responses to the apartheid system and how South Africa and neighbouring countries evolved after apartheid was abolished. As well as the first European settlers and the white Afrikaners attempted enslavement of the black population, the book also covers the Zulu wars, the Anglo Boer wars, and individuals who supported apartheid such as Cecil Rhodes and the whites-only National Party of South Africa. Also covered are prominent leaders of the African National Congress (ANC) and the black revolutionaries who fought against apartheid, many of whom gave their lives or served life sentences for their struggle, including Nelson Mandela who became South Africa's first black president after serving years in prison.
