Handbook of Burner Technologies for Industrial Furnaces Joachim G. Wünnig, Ambrogio Milani, 2012-02-29 The demands made on the energy efficiency and pollutant emissions of industrial furnaces are rising continuously and have high priority in view of the latest increases in energy prices and of the discussion of climate change for which CO₂ emissions are at least partly responsible Great importance is now attached to increasing energy efficiency in a large range of industrial sectors including the steel industry and companies operating heat treatment installations This work is intended to provide support for those persons responsible for the clean and efficient heating of industrial furnaces The initial chapters of the Handbook of Burner Technology for Industrial Furnaces deal with the indispensable theoretical principles of combustion theory fluid mechanics and heat transfer Only those aspects which are of importance for burner technology are examined The succeeding chapters then proceed on to burner technology as such and focus on combustion system concepts analyze pollutant generation and reduction and discuss the recovery of heat for use in combustion air preheating the most important provision for the enhancement of energy efficiency The Industrial Burners chapter outlines with detailed examples the essential types of industrial burners and their integration into the extremely diverse range of modern furnace system concepts his is then followed by chapters on standardization and legal requirements more specialized and detailed literature relevant research institutions and an annex containing the relevant physical data The book discusses the present day state of technological development in a practically orientated manner The reader is provided with a detailed view of all relevant principles terms and processes in industrial combustion technology and thus with important aids for his or her daily work This compact format book with its plethora of information is an indispensable reference source for all persons who are professionally involved in any way at all with the heating and combustion systems of industrial furnaces

The Demoralization of Teachers Dan Wang,2013-05-16 The educational system in China is marked by its dramatic inequality between rural and urban schools The challenges facing rural schools are usually understood as disadvantages in funding facilities and staffing which consequently result in undesirable student performance in general This book however penetrates these phenomena on the surface and brings forth a much deeper moral crisis in rural education a crisis that is entrenched in the complicated interlocking of formal and informal institutions within and beyond the school The Demoralization of Teachers describes the work and workplace in a rural school from the perspective of teachers who were working there It faithfully depicts the lamentable state of teachers work morale in the school and little by little as if a detective story reveals the reasons for the teachers demoralization by vivid narratives The book demonstrates the profound impact on the meanings of teaching exerted by the state curriculum reform the formal and informal norms and regulations in the school and the erosion of moral integrity in the state bureaucracy and the society at large The crisis in the rural school stops to be a rural or educational problem in nature but mirrors the societal wide transformation in political economy as well as in ideology in the current reform China The sheer complexity of the moral crisis in this ethnography calls for renewed efforts to identify and investigate the educational problems in rural China from fresh theoretical perspectives that situate rural education in broader historical and social contexts and processes

Town and Country Planning in the UK Simin Davoudi,David Webb,Geoff Vigar,John Pendlebury,Tim Townshend,Trevor Hart,Vincent Nadin,2014-12-05 Town and country planning has never been more important to the UK nor more prominent in national debate Planning generates great controversy whether it s spending 80m and four years inquiry into Heathrow s Terminal 5 or the 200 proposed wind turbines in the Shetland Isles On a smaller scale telecoms masts take away house extensions and even fences are often the cause of local conflict Town and Country Planning in the UK has been extensively revised by a new author group This 15th Edition incorporates the major changes to planning introduced by the coalition government elected in 2010 particularly through the National Planning Policy Framework and associated practice guidance and the Localism Act It provides a critical discussion of the systems of planning the procedures for managing development and land use change and the mechanisms for implementing policy and proposals It reviews current policy for sustainable development and the associated economic social and environmental themes relevant to planning in both urban and rural contexts Contemporary arrangements are explained with reference to their historical development the influence of the European Union the roles of central and local government and developing social and economic demands for land use change Detailed consideration is given to the nature of planning and its historical evolution the role of the EU central regional and local government mechanisms for developing policy and managing these changes policies for guiding and delivering housing and economic development sustainable development principles for planning including pollution control the importance of design in planning conserving the heritage community engagement in planning The many recent changes to the system are explained in detail the new national planning policy framework the impact of the loss of the regional tier in planning and of the insertion of neighbourhood level planning the transition from development control to development management the continued and growing importance of environmental matters in planning community engagement partnership working changes to planning gain and the introduction of the Community Infrastructure Levy and new initiatives across a number of other themes Notes on further reading are provided and at the end of the book there is an extensive bibliography maintaining its reputation as the bible of British planning

Law and Policy for a New Economy Melissa K. Scanlan, 2017-05-26 This book makes the case for a New Environmentalism and using a systems change approach takes the reader through ideas for reorienting the economy It addresses the laws and policies needed to support the emergence of a new economy across a variety of major areas from energy to food across common pool resources and shifting investments to capitalize locally connected and mission driven businesses The authors take the approach that the challenges are much broader than setting parameters around pollution and go to the heart of the dominant global political economy It explores the values needed to transform our current economic system into a new economy supportive of ecological integrity social justice and vibrant democracy

Between Preservation and Exploitation Kemi Fuentes-George, 2016-03-25 A study of biodiversity governance analyzes the factors that determine the effectiveness of transnational advocacy networks and the importance of justice claims to conservation In the late 2000s ordinary citizens in Jamaica and Mexico demanded that government put a stop to lucrative but environmentally harmful economic development activities bauxite mining in Jamaica and large scale tourism and overfishing on the eastern coast of the Yucatán Peninsula In each case the catalyst for the campaign was information gathered and disseminated by transnational advocacy networks TANs of researchers academics and activists Both campaigns were successful despite opposition from industry supporters Meanwhile simultaneous campaigns to manage land in another part of the Yucatán and to conserve migratory birds in Egypt had far less success In this book Kemi Fuentes George uses these four cases to analyze factors that determine the success or failure of efforts by TANs to persuade policymakers and private sector actors in developing countries to change environmental behavior Fuentes George argues that in order to influence the design and implementation of policy TANs must generate a scientific consensus create social relationships with local actors and advocate for biodiversity in a way that promotes local environmental justice Environmentally just policies would allow local populations access to their lands provided they use natural resources sustainably Justice claims are also more likely to generate needed support among local groups for conservation projects In their conservation efforts Jamaica Mexico and Egypt were attempting to meet their obligations under the UN Convention on Biological Diversity and other regional agreements Fuentes George's innovative analysis shows the importance of local environmental justice for the implementation of international environmental treaties
