Five Loaves, Two Fish, Twelve Volunteers Elizabeth Mae Magill,2020-03-01 Sixty two percent of food pantries and meal programs in the United States are faith based Most of these ministries are transactional people needing food interact with church volunteers to earn access to direct service Elizabeth Magill advocates relational ministry as a better model for food ministry People donating food or money eat with the people who need food and get to know them as they serve alongside them Those needing food share all aspects of the ministry including planning setting up leading serving and cleaning As volunteers become better acquainted with those they serve they can form deep meaningful relationships creating a new way to be the church Five Loaves Two Fish Twelve Volunteers tells the stories of eight churches that share food ministry with people who need their services Full of practical advice this book emphasizes that building relationships and offering radical welcome is more important work for churches than efficiency or order It helps congregations evaluate their outreach and advises them on how to do it differently

Rural Women at Work Ruth B. Dixon-Mueller,2013-11-26 First Published in 2011 This study is

Volume I of the Global Environment and Development 7 volume set One of the most promising areas identified in the initial study was female labor force participation If good jobs at decent wages were offered to women particularly those living in rural areas would such employment have an effect on family size Would their jobs compete for the women s time as mothers and housewives offer them an alternative route to acquiring status and a sense of purpose and perhaps also provide the women with an independent source of income which would enable them to achieve more control over their lives But as the original volume makes clear the situation is more complicated than it first appears to be
