Edith Kaplan has a long and well respected history in the field. However its theoretical and empirical support has not previously been assembled in an easily accessible format. This volume fills that void by compiling the historical empirical and practical teachings of the Process Approach. The reader will find a detailed history of the precursors to this model of thought its development through its proponents such as Harold Goodglass, Nelson Butters, Laird Cermak and Norman Geschwind and its continuing legacy. The second section provides a guide to applying the Boston Process Approach to some of the field's most commonly used measures such as the various Wechsler Intelligence Scales, the Trail Making Test, the California Verbal Learning Test and the Boston Naming Test. Here the reader will find a detailed history of the empirical evidence for test administration and interpretation using Boston Process Approach tenets. The final section of the book provides various perspectives on the implementation of the Boston Process Approach in various clinical and research settings and with specialized populations.
