Reading Material

The Nervous System

The nervous system is an extremely complex network consisting of nerve cells and supporting structures that transmit information throughout the human body. The main purpose of the nervous system is to receive information and send signals that control the body's response. The nervous system is divided into the central nervous system (CNS) and the peripheral nervous system (PNS).

Central Nervous System

The central nervous system (CNS) is the part of the nervous system that is located in the brain and spinal cord. It is the main control center of the body and is responsible for processing information and sending out signals to the rest of the body. The CNS is divided into the brain and the spinal cord. The brain is the largest part of the CNS and is responsible for most of the body's functions. The spinal cord is a long, thin structure that runs down the back and is responsible for transmitting signals between the brain and the rest of the body.

Peripheral Nervous System

The peripheral nervous system (PNS) is the part of the nervous system that is located outside the CNS. It consists of all the nerves that are not in the brain or spinal cord. The PNS is responsible for transmitting signals between the CNS and the rest of the body. It is divided into the somatic nervous system, which controls voluntary movements, and the autonomic nervous system, which controls involuntary functions.

The PNS is divided into the somatic nervous system and the autonomic nervous system. The somatic nervous system is responsible for controlling voluntary movements, such as walking and talking. The autonomic nervous system is responsible for controlling involuntary functions, such as heart rate and digestion. The autonomic nervous system is further divided into the sympathetic nervous system, which is responsible for the "fight or flight" response, and the parasympathetic nervous system, which is responsible for the "rest and digest" response.

The Brain

The brain is the most complex part of the nervous system. It is responsible for processing information and sending out signals to the rest of the body. The brain is divided into the cerebrum, cerebellum, and brainstem. The cerebrum is the largest part of the brain and is responsible for most of the body's functions. The cerebellum is a smaller part of the brain that is responsible for coordination and balance. The brainstem is the part of the brain that connects the cerebrum and cerebellum to the spinal cord.
