Basic Management Plan for Care Under Fire

- 1 Return fire and take cover
- 2 Direct or expect casualty to remain engaged as a combatant if appropriate
- 3 Direct casualty to move to cover and apply self aid if able
- 4 Try to keep the casualty from sustaining additional wounds
- 5 Casualties should be extricated from burning vehicles or buildings and moved to places of relative safety Do what is necessary to stop the burning process
- 6 Airway management is generally best deferred until the Tactical Field Care phase
- 7 Stop life threatening external hemorrhage if tactically feasible

Direct casualty to control hemorrhage by self aid if able Use a CoTCCC recommended tourniquet for hemorrhage that is anatomically amenable to tourniquet application Apply the tourniquet proximal to the bleeding site over the uniform tighten and move the casualty to cover

PRINCIPLES OF TACTICAL COMBAT CASUALTY CARE

TCCC The principles of Tactical Combat Casualty Care are fundamentally different from those of traditional civilian trauma care where most medical providers and medics train. These differences are based on both the unique patterns and types of wounds that are suffered in combat and the tactical conditions medical personnel face in combat. Unique combat wounds and tactical conditions make it difficult to determine which intervention to perform at what time. Besides addressing a casualty's medical condition, responding medical personnel must also address the tactical problems faced while providing care in combat. A medically correct intervention at the wrong time may lead to further casualties. Put another way, good medicine may be a bad tactical decision which can get the rescuer and the casualty killed. To successfully navigate these issues, medical providers must have skills and training oriented to combat trauma care as opposed to civilian trauma care. The specifics of casualty care in the tactical setting will depend on the tactical situation, the injuries sustained by the casualty, the knowledge and skills of the first responder, and the medical equipment at hand. In contrast to a hospital Emergency Department setting where the patient is the mission, on the battlefield care of casualties sustained is only PART of the mission. TCCC recognizes this fact and structures its guidelines to accomplish three primary goals:

1. Treat the casualty
2. Prevent additional casualties
3. Complete the mission

In thinking about the management of combat casualties, it is helpful to divide care into three distinct phases, each with its own characteristics and limitations.

PHTLS: Prehospital Trauma Life Support, Military Edition

National Association of Emergency Medical Technicians, 2019-10. PHTLS Prehospital Trauma Life Support Military Edition is created in partnership between the National Association of Emergency

Fundamentals of Military Medicine

Francis G. O'Connor, Eric B. Schoomaker, Dale C. Smith, 2019-06-03. An introduction to military medicine for medical students new to the military. Military medicine is the application of medical art and science in a military setting for the benefit of the military organization through optimal care of the combatant. Topics include the history of military medicine, leadership, the management and treatment of trauma and mass casualties in frequently austere field and ship environments, the humane clearing of the battlefield, vaccines and protection against exotic global pathogens, both manmade and naturally occurring, unique psychological stressors of war, biodefense against chemical and nuclear weapons, facilitating return to duty, and the eventual return and reintegration home of valuable human resource. This first of its kind textbook offers both authoritative scholarship and the experience of high level medical officers for the new medical officer within any of the armed services, ranging from medical, surgical, nursing, dental, veterinary, and more. It also provides health education and research for the military health professionals deployed to save enlisted military lives and helps to educate medical students.
