

THE CELL THEORY

- although different living things may be as unlike as a violet and an octopus, they are all built in essentially the same way. The most basic similarity is that all living things are composed of one or more cells. This is known as the Cell Theory.
- our knowledge of cells is built on work done with microscopes
- English scientist Robert Hooke in 1665 first described cells from his observations of cork slices. Hooke first used the word "cell".
- Dutch amateur scientist Antonie van Leeuwenhoek discovered microscopic animals in water
- German scientists Schleiden and Schwann in 1830's were first to say that all organisms are made of one or more cells.
- German biologist Virchow in 1858 stated that all cells come from the division of pre-existing cells.
- Cells are the building blocks of life.

The Cell Theory can be summarized as:

1. All living organisms are made up of one or more cells
2. The cell is the basic unit of life
3. All cells come from the division of pre-existing cells

- cells come in many shapes and sizes, although most are microscopic:
 - most cells are small, about 0.001 cm in length (1/100 of a mm, or 10 μm).
 - the smallest cells of the microorganism mycoplasma are 0.3 μm in size
 - Some cells are large. e.g. some giant algal cells may be several centimeters long. A chicken's egg is a single cell.
 - 40,000 red blood cells would fill the letter "O" on a page of type. You produce about 2.5 million new red blood cells every second! Each square cm of your skin contains about 150,000 skin cells.
 - Human beings are composed of about 50 to 100 trillion cells.
- cells carry on all the processes associated with life, such as reproducing and interacting with the environment.

Microscopy

- The study of cell structure includes the fields of CYTOLOGY (for cells) and HISTOLOGY (for tissues), whereas the function of cells is studied in CELL PHYSIOLOGY, BIOCHEMISTRY, and CYTOGENETICS.
- The first instrument used in studying cell structure was the light microscope, which remains an important tool today. The TRANSMISSION ELECTRON MICROSCOPE and the SCANNING ELECTRON MICROSCOPE have vastly increased our knowledge.
- Before an object can be viewed, it is necessary to stain the material and cut it into samples thin enough for a light beam or an electron beam to penetrate them.
- First, the tissue is treated, to "fix" the structures so they will not be altered by the staining and slicing. Usually this is done by using chemicals such as ALCOHOL and FORMALDEHYDE.
- Stains have been developed that react differently with different cell structures, depending on their chemical composition or enzymatic activity. The use of stains containing radioactive atoms, known as AUTORADIOGRAPHY, often involves feeding cells specific compounds with radioactive atoms and then observing the distribution of radioactive events on a photographic film emulsion.

Relative Powers of Microscopes

1. Compound Light Microscope: maximum resolving power = 200 nm (maximum useful magnification = ~1000 X)
2. Transmission Electron Microscope: maximum resolving power = 0.5 nm (maximum useful magnification = >30,000 X)
3. Scanning Electron Microscope: Gives vivid 3-D images, but less magnification than transmission EM

Endocrine Physiology Constance R. Martin, 1985 This graduate text and reference deals with vertebrate and particularly human endocrinology, taking a balanced biochemical and physiological approach that emphasizes the mechanisms of hormone action. It represents a complete reworking of Martin's Textbook of Endocrine Physiology, 1976, detailing the tremendous advances in basic endocrinology and the profound changes in thinking about the nature and function of hormones that have taken place in the last eight years. Completely up to date, covering all major points of controversy and three times the size of its predecessor, 200 new illustrations including electron micrographs and line drawings. Provides useful pedagogic aids such as short self-contained sections which treat secondary or controversial aspects of the main topic discussion. Covers both clinical aspects and related topics such as the effect of hormones on sexual identity and the possible link between growth factors and cancer. Balanced, comprehensive, and up to the minute, this book is both an excellent text for graduate level courses and a valuable reference for researchers in physiology and for clinical endocrinologists.

The Endocrine System Lynette Rushton, 2009 Each title in the series The Human Body: How It Works investigates a different system or process of the human body, from organ systems to cells. Written by experts in human anatomy and accompanied by full color illustrations, photos, charts, and diagrams, each title thoroughly examines the role of each system as part of the complex machine that is the human body. Tasked with controlling growth, reproduction, and metabolism in the human body the endocrine system employs a complex network of organs and glands throughout the body By producing hormones like insulin estrogen and adrenaline these glands and organs can communicate with other body parts to adjust and react to the body s surroundings and environment In the Endocrine System discover how the pancreas and reproductive organs work in conjunction with the pituitary thyroid and adrenal glands to maintain an internal balance within the human body and the diseases and disorders that affect its function Book jacket
