El-Hi Textbooks and Serials in Print, 1985      International Handbook on Geographical Education Rod

Gerber, 2013-03-09 I am very pleased to have been asked by Rod Gerber to provide a preface to such a book. Not least because of the twenty-four chapters eight are written by former students or colleagues with whom I have worked in the past and whom I still meet at conferences on geographical education. It is with a certain pride and joy that I note the progress which has been made in geographical education both in its day-to-day teaching and in research in the twenty years following the end of my term of office as Chair of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union CGEIUG. My successors Joe Stoltman, Hartwig Haubrich, Rod Gerber and now Lea Houtsonen have done much and are continuing to work hard to foster the development of geographical education. This book is proof if proof were needed that the international collaboration in this field is alive and well with contributions coming from all the continents except Antarctica. It would be a moribund subject that remained unaffected in one way or another by developments on the great world stage as Fairgrieve 1926 would have put it. And as Rod Gerber shows the issues of globalisation of cultural encounters of differing value systems of new technologies of variable economic development and of environmental quality all feature as topics which influence and are influenced by geographical education.

Subject Leadership and School Improvement Hugh

Busher, Alma Harris, 2000-11-17 Curriculum and subject leadership in schools has recently gained substantial attention from both researchers and policy makers. The Teacher Training Agency TTA has reinforced the importance of subject leadership in school improvement proposing a new measure of such leadership competence through the creation of national subject leader standards. NPQSL Subject Leadership and School Improvement reflects critically on the work of subject and curriculum leaders especially in schools in England and Wales that is those within the policy framework of The National Curriculum and the Teacher Training Agency. The book debates the functions of subject leaders in primary and secondary schools using current research-based conceptual frameworks and considers how they can bring about improvement and change with their colleagues in their subject areas. It emphasizes what is particular about leading and managing the middle realm of education organizations showing how structural, cultural and individual imperatives and perspectives interact with each other in the professional practice of being a subject leader. The book is of interest not only to subject leaders and curriculum coordinators to help them reflect rigorously on their practice but also to those responsible for supervising them such as headteachers and school governors as well as for those accountable to them. It will be a useful text for serving teachers undertaking higher degrees programmes or programmes for gaining national standards qualifications the National Professional Qualification for Headteachers NPQH as much as for the NPQSL National Professional Qualification for Subject
