Reaction Formations: Dialogism, Ideology, and Capitalist Culture Jonathan Hall,2019-08-05 Bakhtin and Voloshinov argued that dialogue is the intersubjective basis of consciousness and of the creativity which makes historical changes in consciousness possible The multiple dialogical relationships give every subject who has developed through internalising them the potential to distance him or herself from them Consciousness is therefore an unfinalised process always open to a possible future which would not merely reiterate the past But this book explores its corollary The relative openness is a field of conflict where rival discourses struggle for hegemony by subordinating or eliminating their rivals That is how the unconscious is created out of socio historical conflicts Hegemony is always incomplete because there is always the possibility of a return of its repressed rivals in new combinations

Cruelty and Desire in the Modern Theater Laurens De Vos, 2011-04-18. Departing from a refreshing look at the ideas of Antonin Artaud, this book provides a thorough analysis of how both Sarah Kane and Samuel Beckett are indebted to his legacy. In juxtaposing these playwrights, De Vos minutely points out how both in their own way struggle with coming to terms with Artaud. A key concept in Lacanian psychoanalytic theories, desire lies at the root of the Theatre of Cruelty. Kane and Beckett prove that desire and cruelty are inextricably linked to one another but that they appear in radically different disguises. Relying on Kane and Beckett, this book not only sheds a light on the precise intentions behind Artaud's project; it also maps out the structural parallels and dichotomies between the Theatre of Cruelty and the literary genre of tragedy. Immediately after the premiere of Sarah Kane's Blasted in 1995, some reviewers made a link with Antonin Artaud's Theatre of Cruelty. These parallels, however, were solely based on the abundance of physical violence on stage. In response to these assertions, this book traces minutely Artaud's legacy for later generations. Making use of Jacques Lacan's psychoanalytical ideas as a theoretical framework, De Vos defines Artaud's project not so much in terms of blood and gore but rather as a theater of Passion revolving around notions as desire, love, and the subjectile, a concept that was drawn attention to by Derrida. In addition, the idea of the scapegoat delineated by René Girard provides a leg up to clarify the intrinsic parallels as well as divergences between the Theatre of Cruelty and tragedy while also Lacan's analysis of Antigone is being looked at. Phaedra's Love, Cleansed, and 4.48 Psychosis are extensively dealt with in this study and point out the development Kane went through in her short but at the same time long trajectory. The third part on Beckett focuses primarily on Krapp's Last Tape and Not I and equally so calls in Lacan to understand self-alienation and self-concept.
