Immigration and Migration

People first migrated to America many thousands of years ago and lived throughout the continent before Europeans arrived and began to settle colonies.

Economic and Recovery

The 13 original colonies declared their independence from Great Britain in 1776, forming the United States of America. Conflicts between the North and the South over the issue of slavery resulted in the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861. The nation emerged during Reconstruction and continued to expand westward and develop into an industrial nation.

The voyage of the Mayflower marked a new beginning for not just the colonies on board, but for America as well.
