Africa and the Sustainable Development Goals

Maano Ramutsindela, David Mickler, 2019-06-13 The book draws upon the expertise and international research collaborations forged by the Worldwide Universities Network Global Africa Group to critically engage with the intersection in theory and practice of the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs and Africa's development agendas and needs Further it argues that and demonstrates how the SDGs should be understood as an aspirational blueprint for development with multiple meanings that are situated in dynamic and contested terrains As the SDGs have substantial implications for development policy and resourcing at both the macro and micro levels their relevance is not only context specific but should also be assessed in terms of the aspirations and needs of ordinary citizens across the continent Drawing on analyses and evidence from both the natural and social sciences the book demonstrates that progress towards the SDGs must meet demands for improving human well being under diverse and challenging socio economic political and environmental conditions Examples include those from the mining industry public health employment and the media In closing it highlights how international collaboration in the form of research networks can enhance the production of critical knowledge on and engagement with the SDGs in Africa

The Postcolonial Animal Evan Mwangi, 2019-09-06 Despite the central role that animals play in African writing and daily life African literature and African thinkers remain conspicuously absent from the field of animal studies The Postcolonial Animal African Literature and Posthuman Ethics demonstrates the importance of African writing to animal studies by analyzing how postcolonial African writing including folktales religion philosophy and anticolonial movements has been mobilized to call for humane treatment of nonhuman others Mwangi illustrates how African authors grapple with the possibility of an alternative to eating meat and how they present postcolonial animal consuming cultures as shifting toward an embrace of cultural and political practices that avoid the use of animals and minimize animal suffering The Postcolonial Animal analyzes texts that imagine a world where animals are not abused or used as a source of food clothing or labor and that offer instruction in how we might act responsibly and how we should relate to others both human and nonhuman in order to ensure a world free of oppression The result is an equitable world where even those who are utterly foreign to us are accorded respect and where we recognize the rights of all marginalized groups The Oxford Handbook of Kenyan Politics Nic Cheeseman, Karuti Kanyinga, Gabrielle Lynch, 2020-02-14 Kenya is one of the most politically dynamic and influential countries in sub Saharan Africa Today it is known in equal measure as a country that has experienced great highs and tragic lows In the 1960s and 1970s Kenya was seen as a success story of development in the periphery and also led the way in terms of democratic breakthroughs in 2010 when a new constitution devolved power and placed new constraints on the president However the country has also made international headlines for the kind of political instability that occurs when electoral violence is expressed along ethnic lines such as during the Kenya crisis of 2007/08 when over 1 000 people lost their lives and almost 700 000 were displaced The Oxford Handbook of Kenyan Politics explains these developments and many more drawing together 50 specially commissioned chapters by leading researchers The chapters they have contributed address a range of essential topics including the legacy of colonial rule ethnicity land politics devolution the constitution elections democracy foreign aid the informal economy civil society human rights the International Criminal Court the growing influence of China economic policy electoral violence and the impact of mobile phone technology In addition to covering some of the most important debates about Kenyan politics the volume provides an insightful overview of Kenyan history from 1930 to the present day and features a set of chapters that review the impact of devolution on regional politics in every part of the country Information, Knowledge, and Technology for Teaching and Research in Africa Dennis Ocholla, Omwoyo Bosire Onyancha, Aderonke Olaitan Adesina, 2024-06-01 This book focuses on human machine interaction and user interfaces for teaching and research in Africa The importance of digital humanities DH is recognized by focusing on the theoretical and historical development of DH in the context of LIS education and how infrastructure influences DH programs initiatives in respective LIS schools These findings and recommendations provide valuable knowledge for developing the domain and establishing potential areas of collaboration in DH research and curriculum The book explores and explicates what the Diffusion of Innovations theory is about as well as the characteristics of innovators The Diffusion of Innovations theory is relevant to the LIS field which has widely adopted numerous innovations to automate a wide range of administrative and technical processes build databases and networks and provide better services to library users The diffusion and adoption of technology have become imperative for the efficient management of modern libraries and LIS as a field in general Existing literature that is related to the adoption use and challenges facing the development of clinical informatics in teaching hospitals in developing countries is reviewed It is also revealed that hospitals in developing countries should embrace the use of tools for effective healthcare delivery and that nursing informatics is very significant in nursing practice In addition the role of academic institutions and the use of information and communication technologies ICTs by librarians for information and knowledge IKM in such institutions in the Fourth Industrial Revolution 4IR is addressed The book acknowledges the marginalization of indigenous knowledge and that there is a need for Africa to develop and accelerate strategies for enhancing indigenous knowledge for future generation and ICT is poised to play a crucial role

Lawyers in 21st-Century Societies Richard L Abel, Ole Hammerslev, Hilary Sommerlad, Ulrike Schultz, 2020-04-02 The world's legal professions have undergone dramatic changes in the 30 years since publication of the landmark three volume Lawyers in Society which launched comparative sociological studies of lawyers This is the first of two volumes in which scholars from a wide range of disciplines countries and cultures document and analyse those changes The present volume presents reports on 46 countries with broad coverage of North America Western Europe Latin America Asia Australia North Africa and the Middle East sub Saharan Africa and former communist countries These national reports address the impact of globalisation and neoliberalism on national legal professions the relationship of lawyers and their professional associations to the state and tensions between state and citizenship changes in lawyer demography rapidly growing numbers and the profession's efforts to retain control the entry of women and obstacles to full gender equality ethnic diversity legal education the proliferation of institutions and pedagogic innovation the regulation of lawyers structures of production especially the growth of large firms and the impact of technology and paraprofessionals the distribution of lawyers across roles and access to justice state funded legal aid and pro bono services The juxtaposition of the reports reveals the dramatic transformations of professional rationales labour markets and working practices and the multiple contingencies of the role of lawyers in societies experiencing increasing juridification within a new geopolitical order

Interactive Feedbacks between Soil Fauna and Soil Processes Maria Luz Cayuela, Julia Clause, Jan Frouz, Philippe C. Baveye, 2020-03-30 Soil fauna plays a significant role at all trophic levels of the soil food web and regulates processes that are crucial for soil functioning such as nutrient cycling immobilization and or degradation of toxic compounds formation of soil structure greenhouse gas emissions and C turnover Although soil fauna is not thought to contribute significantly to soil respiration during litter or soil organic matter SOM decomposition the diversity of soil fauna has been found to strongly influence SOM distribution and dynamics Yet the functional contribution of soil fauna to many soil processes is not well understood due to methodological limitations and the high complexity of interactions at various spatiotemporal scales In general soil fauna has received far less scientific attention than bacteria and fungi and lately archaea in soil studies and has been regularly ignored in global biogeochemical models with maybe exceptions for some earthworms However recent studies are raising the awareness of the influence of soil fauna on ecosystems dynamics For instance earthworms have been found to be major players in N₂O emissions from soils They exert a strong influence on C stabilization and they promote the degradation of polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons PAHs Less studied ants and termites have been found to increase crop productivity in drylands and different lifeforms of Collembola have been shown to impact microorganisms in various ways over time thereby potentially affecting C and N cycles within farming systems The influence of soil fauna indeed manifests over a broad ranges of spatiotemporal scales For example some effect such as aggregate formation may cumulate over time and finally contribute to the formation of whole soil profiles which serve as a framework for other soil processes such as water movement decomposition etc Meanwhile soil biodiversity is impacted by an increasing human pressure through deforestation agriculture intensification habitat fragmentation or climate change increasing temperatures extreme weather events which leads to soil biodiversity loss in particular of soil fauna with associated consequences on soil functioning and resilience

Negotiating Structural Vulnerability in Cancer Control Julie Armin,Nancy J. Burke,Laura Eichelberger,2019-03 What can case studies about the lived experiences of cancer contribute to an interest in the concept of structural vulnerability And can a consideration of structural vulnerability enhance applied anthropological work in cancer prevention and control To answer these questions the contributors in this volume explore what it means to be structurally vulnerable how structural vulnerabilities intersect with cancer risk diagnosis care seeking caregiving clinical trial participation and survivorship and how differing local national and global political contexts and histories inform vulnerability These case studies illustrate how quotidian experiences of structural vulnerability influence and are altered by a cancer diagnosis at various points in the continuum of care In examining cancer as a set of diseases and biosocial phenomena the contributors extend structural vulnerability beyond its original conceptualization to encompass spatiality temporality and biosocial shifts in both individual and institutional arrangements
