GENRE

Historical Fiction

PERSPECTIVE AND NARRATOR

Things Fall Apart is told in the third person by an omniscient narrator who has a deeply personal connection to the setting, an 1890s Nigerian village.

TENSE

Things Fall Apart is told primarily in the past tense.

ABOUT THE TITLE

The title Things Fall Apart is taken from a line from William Butler Yeats's "The Second Coming," a poem that describes the state of the world in the aftermath of World War I. Achebe, recognizing potential chaos in Nigeria's bid for independence from Britain, explores the themes in Yeats's poem—pressing questions about a world order broken by violence and dissent.

🕒 In Context

After being rejected by a number of London publishers, Things Fall Apart was accepted by Heinemann, although the publisher was admittedly uncertain about the novel's audience and its reception. Written in English, the work was unflattering to white culture, British imperialism in particular. Nonetheless, Heinemann released the book without changing a word. Its initial publishing run was 2,000. Four years later Heinemann chose Things Fall Apart as the first book in its African Writers Series. The book has sold more than 10 million copies and has been translated into more than 50 languages.

Critical Response

Critics praised Achebe's writing style. One called it "vivid," while another described it as "clear and meaty." Achebe's depiction of Igbo life and culture was also appreciated. Some, however, were turned off by his portrayal of missionaries and imperialism. These critics claimed Achebe was ungrateful and questioned whether he wanted to return to "mindless times." Today the book is viewed as a profound story that changed the way the world looks at Africa. Note that throughout the book, Achebe refers to the Igbo people as Ibo, an older, and now outdated, spelling. This study guide and other materials use the Igbo spelling.
