| Stressors/Extraordinary Events/New Issues Presented Today | There are four options available for staff using this section of the progress note: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. If person does not report/present any new issues, mark "None Reported" and proceed to planned intervention/goals. 2. If person reports a new issue that was resolved during the session check the "New Issue resolved, no CA Update required" box. Briefly document the new issue, identify the interventions used in the Therapeutic Interventions section and indicate the resolution in the Response section of the progress note. If services are provided during the session that have not been previously ordered in the Individualized Action plan, then an explanation of the rationale for those services should be provided. 3. If person presents an issue that has been previously assessed and for which Goals/Objectives and services have been ordered, then the information may be briefly documented as an indicator of the progress or lack of progress achieved. 4. If person presents any new issue(s) that represent a therapeutic need that is not already being addressed in the IAP, check box indicating a "CA Update Required" and record notation that new issue has been recorded on a Comprehensive Assessment Update of the same Date and write detailed narrative on the appropriate CA Update as instructed in this manual. Also, the newly assessed therapeutic information may require a new goal, objective, therapeutic intervention or service that will require further use of the IAP Review/Revision form. Example: Person became uncharacteristically angry with another group member during the group session and the two began arguing loudly. Group therapist intervened and assisted person with identifying what had triggered excessive anger today. Person was able to recognize that the other group member reminded her of her abusive uncle and apologized to the other member. Example of New Issue needing CA Update: The person reported new symptoms of nightmares, intrusive memories, and |

Adolescent Group Therapy

Lucille Gordon,Robert V. Heckel,George R. Holmes,1991-09-30 This book offers a health oriented integrative approach to adolescent group therapy George R Holmes and his associates believe that promoting social competency in each adolescent group member is central to successful therapy The enablement of interpersonal skills neutralizes the environmentally sponsored psychopathology that adolescents use to survive The authors also emphasize the co therapy relationship They offer recommendations for supervising trainee therapists and for applying their model to other contexts such as high schools The authors discuss strategies developed in their clinical work covering such issues as scapegoating silence and withdrawal They explore how processes roles and meaningful issues change over the life of the group Social competency should be the main focus they argue it is essential to nurturing self parenting skills and a healthy identity The co therapy relationship the interaction between co therapists and among co therapists and group members also greatly determines therapeutic change The book includes recommendations for supervising trainee therapists and for applying this model to other contexts such as high schools Adolescent Group Therapy will be of interest to students and to teachers and professionals in psychology counseling vocational rehabilitation social work nursing education and child and adolescent psychiatry

Personal Styles in Neurosis (RLE: Group Therapy) T.M. Caine,O.B.A. Wijesinghe,D.A. Winter,2014-09-19 Originally published in 1981 the inadequacies of the medical model for the understanding and psychological treatment of neuroses were widely recognized A number of alternative approaches had arisen in response but most of the models were theoretical and little experimental support was documented One of the most pressing needs at the time was for a system of classification which could predict the behaviour of different types of neurotic patient under different treatments and thus provide a framework for the selection of patients for small group psychotherapy and for behaviour therapy The authors of this title develop such a framework involving the matching of patient therapist and treatment according to certain adjustment strategies such as direction of interest conservatism convergent divergent thinking openness to inner experience and control The personal style of an individual is defined by these strategies and by the patient s expectations from treatment The authors collected a considerable amount of original research material over many years and their evidence demonstrates the fundamental importance of personal style in treatment allocation and response The new approach which they propose will be of interest not only to academic psychologists but to those in the mental health professions actively engaged in psychotherapy and behaviour therapy Handbook of Behavioral Group Therapy Dennis Upper,Steven M. Ross,2013-11-11 In 1977 the current editors contributed a review article on behavioral group therapy to a volume of Hersen Miller and Eisler s Progress in Behavior Modification series 1977 At that time we noted that despite the advantages to both clinicians and clients of conducting behavioral treatments in groups clinical developments and research in this area were still at a relatively rudimentary level The majority of studies in the behavioral group therapy literature we reviewed reported the direct transfer of an individual behavior therapy procedure such as systematic desensitization to a group of clients with homogeneous problems such as snake phobia or test anxiety Groups were used in many studies merely to generate sufficient numbers of subjects to allow various types of interventions to be compared rather than to examine group process variables per se Only a limited amount of attention had been given to whether these group interaction variables such as group discussion sharing ideas and feelings and mutual feedback and reinforcement might enhance individually oriented procedures applied in a group The 8 years since this original chapter was written have seen a significant growth in both the breadth and depth of clinical research and work in the behavioral group therapy field This growth was documented in part in a three volume series on behavioral group therapy by the current editors Upper Ross 1979 1980 1981 The Theory and Practice of Group

Psychotherapy Irvin D. Yalom, 1995 Hailed by Jerome Frank as the best book that exists on the subject today and for the foreseeable future Irvin D Yalom's The Theory and Practice of Group Psychotherapy has long been the standard text in its field Indeed in a survey reported in the American Journal of Psychiatry it was cited as one of the ten most influential psychiatry publications of the past decade and it was one of the very few judged to be of seminal or lasting value In this completely revised and expanded fourth edition updated to reflect the American Psychiatric Association's latest diagnostic manual the DSM IV Dr Yalom presents the most recent developments in the field drawing on nearly a decade of new research as well as his own broad clinical wisdom and experience This edition features new sections on combining individual and group therapy the latest information about brief group therapy and how to modify group work to deal with the newly emerging homogeneous focal groups including survivor groups as well as updated references and new clinical vignettes drawn from the author's recent practice Throughout Dr Yalom has updated the style and content of the chapters while retaining valid research and clinical observations Illustrating the text are vivid cases from nearly two thousand group sessions that he has led over the past decade The Theory and Practice of Group Psychotherapy is an informative text that is at once scholarly and lively This new edition is the most up to date incisive and comprehensive text on group therapy available today
