Erling,John Clegg,Casmir M. Rubagumya,Colin Reilly,2021-07-01 This edited collection provides unprecedented insight into the emerging field of multilingual education in Sub Saharan Africa SSA Multilingual education is claimed to have many benefits amongst which are that it can improve both content and language learning especially for learners who may have low ability in the medium of instruction and are consequently struggling to learn The book represents a range of Sub Saharan school contexts and describes how multilingual strategies have been developed and implemented within them to support the learning of content and language. It looks at multilingual learning from several points of view including translanguaging or the use of multiple languages and especially African languages for learning and language supportive pedagogy or the implementation of a distinct pedagogy to support learners working through the medium of a second language. The book puts forward strategies for creating materials, classroom environments and teacher education programmes which support the use of all of a student's languages to improve language and content learning. The contexts which the book describes are challenging including low school resourcing, poverty and low literacy in the home and school policy which militates against the use of African languages in school. The volume also draws on multilingual education approaches which have been successfully carried out in higher resource countries and lend themselves to being adapted for use in SSA. It shows how multilingual learning can bring about transformation in education and provides inspiration for how these strategies might spread and be further developed to improve learning in schools in SSA and beyond. Designed for instructors in schools and universities as well as stakeholders and policy makers in education everywhere, this book is a systematic guide to contemporary school teaching of classical languages, literature and civilisation in major countries across the world. This book examines the trends and assesses the rationale for such diversity in programmes of study and asks the question: What are classical subjects for in today's schools? Each chapter is arranged by geographical area and draws on the experiences of teachers and other education experts in each country, commenting on contemporary practices. Themes such as the impact of national education policies, enrolment, assessment, accessibility and inclusion are discussed. The teaching of Classics has wide variations in practices and purposes from one education system to another. In some, the teaching of Classics continues to be focused on the mastery of language and grammar; in others, active use of the ancient languages is growing in popularity; and yet in others, the focus is shifting towards the study of the languages and civilisations in translation. Presenting an overview, survey and comparison of practices across the world, this book is essential reading for instructors and teaching training courses in the world of classical
