Hope and a Future John Balouziyeh, 2016-05-15 When the Syrian uprising began in March 2011 no one envisioned mass atrocities on the scale we are witnessing today No one foresaw the displacement of millions that would dramatically reshape regional demographics No one imagined that children would become the victims of chemical weapons or that the Mediterranean Sea would become their graveyard Today more than half of the Syrian population has been displaced a phenomenon almost without precedent in human history Images of starving civilians trapped in besieged cities have outraged the human conscience Thousands of children have been slain by barrel bombs landmines and chlorine gas More than a quarter million Syrians have perished These numbers are a shameful indictment on humanity Yet there is hope Each day in refugee camps across the Middle East aid workers seeking neither recognition nor reward sacrifice their comfort to bring Syrian refugees relief Entrepreneurs setting aside the pursuit of profits lend pro bono assistance to innovatively address refugee needs Volunteers risk their lives to give Syrian refugees hope and a future This book tracks the author's travels to Syrian refugee camps and informal tented settlements in Lebanon Jordan and Iraq Relying on his legal background he offers an unfiltered account of the plight of

Syrian refugees from a legal political and humanitarian perspective Yet this book is more than just an account of the lives of Syrian refugees it answers that burning question on so many people s minds How can I help In discussing corporate partnerships with aid organizations civil society initiatives humanitarian missions volunteering and fundraising the author shows that there is a role anyone can play in making a lasting positive impact on Syrian refugees and restoring dignity to their lives Focus on Egypt Ernest Emenyonu,2017 As well as a rare examination of Egyptian literature this volume includes a non themed section of Featured Articles and a Literary Supplement Love and Space in Contemporary African Diasporic Women's Writing Jennifer Leetsch,2021-07-16 This book sets out to investigate how contemporary African diasporic women writers respond to the imbalances pressures and crises of twenty first century globalization by querying the boundaries between two separate conceptual domains love and space The study breaks new ground by systematically bringing together critical love studies with research into the cultures of migration diaspora and refuge Examining a notable tendency among current black feminist writers poets and performers to insist on the affective dimension of world making the book ponders strategies of reconfiguring postcolonial discourses Indeed the analyses of literary works and intermedia performances by Chimamanda Adichie Zadie Smith Helen Oyeyemi Shailja Patel and Warsan Shire reveal an urge of moving beyond a familiar insistence on processes of alienation or rupture and towards a new reparative emphasis on connection and intimacy to imagine possible inhabitable worlds African Migration, Human Rights and Literature Fareda Banda,2020-12-24 This innovative book looks at the topic of migration through the prism of law and literature The author uses a rich mix of novels short stories literary realism human rights and comparative literature to explore the experiences of African migrants and asylum seekers The book is divided into two Part one is conceptual and focuses on art activism and the myriad ways in which people have sought to write justice Using Mazrui s diasporas of slavery and colonialism it then considers histories of migration across the centuries before honing in on the recent anti migration policies of western states Achiume is used to show how these histories of imposition and exploitation create a bond which bestows on Africans a status as co sovereigns of the First World through citizenship The many fictional examples of the schemes used to gain entry are set against the formal legal processes Attention is paid to life post arrival which for asylum seekers may include periods in detention The impact of the increased hostility of receiving states is examined in light of their human rights obligations Consideration is paid to how Africans navigate their post migration lives which includes reconciling themselves to status fracture taking on jobs for which they are over qualified while simultaneously dealing with the resentment borne of status threat on the part of the citizenry Part two moves from the general to consider the intersections of gender and status focusing on women LGBTI individuals and children Focusing on their human rights and the fictional literature chapter four looks at women who have been trafficked as well as domestic workers and hotel maids while chapter five is on LGBTI people whose legal and literary stories are only now being told The final substantive chapter considers the experiences of children who may arrive as unaccompanied minors Using a mixture of poetry and first person accounts the chapter examines the post arrival lives of children some of whom may be citizens but who are continually made to feel like outsiders The conclusion follows starting with two stories about walls by Hadero and Lanchester which are used to illustrate the themes discussed in the book Few African lawyers write about literature and few books and articles in Western law and literature look at books by or about Africans so a book that engages with both is long overdue This book provides fascinating reading for academics students of law literature gender and migration studies and indeed the general public

Right Where We Belong Sarah Dryden-Peterson,2022-04-05 A leading expert shows how by learning from refugee teachers and students we can create for displaced children and indeed all children better schooling and brighter futures Half of the world's 26 million refugees are children Their formal education is disrupted and their lives are too often dominated by exclusion and uncertainty about what the future holds Even kids who have the opportunity to attend school face enormous challenges as they struggle to integrate into unfamiliar societies and educational environments In Right Where We Belong Sarah Dryden Peterson discovers that where governments and international agencies have been stymied refugee teachers and students themselves are leading From open air classrooms in Uganda to the hallways of high schools in Maine new visions for refugee education are emerging Dryden Peterson introduces us to people like Jacques a teacher who created a school for his fellow Congolese refugees in defiance of local laws and Hassan a Somali refugee navigating the social world of the American teenager Drawing on more than 600 interviews in twenty three countries Dryden Peterson shows how teachers and students are experimenting with flexible forms of learning Rather than adopt the unrealistic notion that all will soon return to normal these schools embrace unfamiliarity develop students adaptiveness and demonstrate how children teachers and community members can build supportive relationships across lines of difference It turns out that policymakers activists and educators have a lot to learn from displaced children and teachers Their stories point the way to better futures for refugee students and inspire us to reimagine education broadly so that children everywhere are better prepared to thrive in a diverse and unpredictable world their homeland by Israel Today we re witnessing a second Nakba one being played out in front of our eyes In Catastrophe Fintan Drury offers an unflinching exploration of Israel s genocidal campaign Through extensive research he argues that the Hamas attack on 7 October 2023 was the inevitable result of almost eight decades of violent oppression of indigenous Palestinians In his view Israel s response was totally disproportionate and without the active sponsorship of the US and other major Western powers could not have happened Provocative eye opening and unapologetically direct Catastrophe Nakba II is a call to understand the unique suffering of the Palestinians Theater of Anger Olivia Landry,2021 Theatre of Anger examines contemporary transnational theatre in Berlin through the political scope of anger and its trajectory from Aristotle all the way to Audre Lorde and bell hooks The Handbook of Student Affairs Administration George S.
