Detroit Journal of Education, 1922      Manual of Instructions for Giving and Scoring the Courtis Standard Tests in the Three R's Stuart Appleton Courtis, 1914      The Charisma Machine Morgan G. Ames, 2019-11-19 A fascinating examination of technological utopianism and its complicated consequences. In The Charisma Machine Morgan Ames chronicles the life and legacy of the One Laptop per Child project and explains why despite its failures the same utopian visions that inspired OLPC still motivate other projects trying to use technology to disrupt education and development. Announced in 2005 by MIT Media Lab cofounder Nicholas Negroponte, One Laptop per Child promised to transform the lives of children across the Global South with a small, sturdy and cheap laptop computer powered by a hand crank. In reality, the project fell short in many ways, starting with the hand crank which never materialized. Yet the project remained charismatic to many who were captivated by its claims of access to educational opportunities previously out of reach. Behind its promises, OLPC like many technology projects that make similarly grand claims had a fundamentally flawed vision of who the computer was made for and what role technology should play in learning. Drawing on fifty years of history and a seven-month study of a model OLPC project in Paraguay, Ames reveals that the laptops were not only frustrating to use, easy to break and hard to repair, they were designed for technically precocious boys idealized younger versions of the developers themselves rather than the children who were actually using them. The Charisma Machine offers a cautionary tale about the allure of technology hype and the problems that result when utopian dreams drive technology development.      The Techne, 1921      Resources in Education, 2000

Schedule of Examinations and Instructions to Applicants United States Civil Service Commission, 1896      The Girl with Nine Lives Stephanie Kauffman, 2020-12-21 The Girl with Nine Lives is a true adventure story, a candid personal memoir describing the first eighteen years of the author's life which began in foster care until she was adopted by a hardworking couple of faith. The book explores the author's experiences growing up on the farm, her struggles learning to walk, run, ride a bike, and the many scrapes, both figurative and literal, she got into as a daredevil and a dreamer. Born with a serious balance issue, doctors said Stephanie or Stacy in the book would never walk and should be relegated to an institution. Being given up for adoption left her feeling discarded and insecure. As she is raised by a loving family and begins to experience victories, the author learns to see her value in the world, eventually finding her calling as a teacher. Faith has a strong presence in the book. Stacy grows in her faith and comes to realize that God has a plan for her. With a childhood so full of amusing, frightening and unusual adventures and misadventures, it really does seem like a miracle that the author emerged in one piece. Readers will find themselves rooting for young Stacy's success and at times her survival.      Instructions to Applicants..., 1895
