Unsettled Issues in Commercial Vehicle Platooning Jody Emlyn Muelaner, 2021-11-15 While platooning has the potential to reduce energy consumption of commercial vehicles while improving safety both advantages are currently difficult to quantify due to insufficient data and the wide range of variables affecting models Platooning will significantly reduce the use of energy when compared to trucks driven alone or at a safe distance for a driver without any automated assistance However drivers typically drive closer to each other than recommended to achieve drafting efficiencies which may shift the benefit of automated platooning to safety gains More data will be needed to conclusively demonstrate these gains Unsettled Issues in

Commercial Vehicle Platooning discusses the technologies needed to enable close platooning including brake system condition monitoring vehicle to vehicle communication and concrete infrastructure assessment The report also looks at driver acceptance of platooning technology from a safety and job security perspective Click here to access the full SAE EDGETM Research Report portfolio <https://doi.org/10.4271/EPR2021027> Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations for Fiscal Year 2000 United States. conferences Claude Frasson started them as a means to congregate researchers actively involved in the ITS field and provide a forum for presentation and debate of the most currently challenging issues Thus the unifying theme is science This year s hot topics differ from those in the earlier ITS conferences as they reflect ever changing trends in ITS research A few of the issues being examined at ITS 98 include Web based tutoring systems deploying ITS in the real world tutoring and authoring tools architectures and knowledge structure and representation A Guidebook for Marketing Transit Services to Business Multisystems, inc, Transit Cooperative Research Program, 1999 This report provides information on successful business to business marketing techniques with application to transit The Guidebook provides motivation for doing business to business marketing lessons from the private sector as well as the transit industry guidance on how to implement a business to business marketing program tools and techniques for business to business marketing and evaluation measures The report should be useful to transit planners managers marketing professionals and others interested in the use of marketing strategies to build ridership
