

Poker Hand Rankings - Texas Hold'em

Royal Flush

A straight flush specifically running from 10 to ace. This is an unbeatable hand in Texas Hold'em.

Straight Flush

Five cards in sequential order, all of the same suit. If you have this hand, you'll only lose to a better straight flush or the royal flush.

Four-of-a-Kind

Four cards of the same value. If two players both have quads, the highest card then plays.

Full House

Three-of-a-kind plus a pair. If multiple players have a full house, the higher three-of-a-kind will win, followed by the higher pair.

Flush

Five cards of the same suit. The cards do not have to be in any order. When two players have a flush, the highest card wins, followed by the second-highest card and so on.

Straight

Five cards of any suit in sequential order. Aces can be attached to either 2-3-4-5 or 10-J-Q-K. The higher the straight, the stronger your hand.

Three-of-a-Kind

Three cards of the same value. If you and your opponent both have trips, the high card plays, followed by the second-highest card.

Two Pair

Two sets of two cards of the same value. If two players each have two pair, the hand with the highest pair wins. For example, K-K-5-5 beats Q-Q-J-J.

Pair

Two cards of the same value. If you have the same pair as your opponent, the highest card wins. If that's also the same, the second-highest card plays, and then the third if needed.

High Card

With no made hand, the highest card wins. In this instance, aces are the highest card possible.
