Texts and Textiles Diana Mary Eva Thomas, 2017-03-07 This study shows how fiction that makes use of textiles as an essential element utilizes synaesthetic writing and synaesthetic metaphor to create an affective link to and response in the reader These links and responses are examined using affect theory from Silvan Tomkins and Brian Massumi and work on synaesthesia by Richard Cytowic Lawrence Marks and V S Ramachandran among others Synaesthetic writing including synaesthetic metaphors has been explored in poetry since the 1920s and more recently in fiction but these studies have been general in nature By narrowing the field of investigation to those novels that specifically employ three types of hand crafted textiles quilt making knitting and embroidery the book isolates how these textiles are used in fiction The combination of synaesthesia memory metaphor and particularly synaesthetic metaphor in fiction with textiles in the text of the case studies selected shows how these are used to create affect in readers enhancing their engagement in the story The work is framed within the context of the history of textile production and the use of textiles in fiction internationally but concentrates on Australian authors who have used textiles in their writing The decision to focus on Australian authors was taken in light of the quality and depth of the writing of textile fiction produced in Australia between 1980 and 2005 in the three categories of hand crafted textiles quilt making knitting and embroidery The texts chosen for intensive study are Kate Grenville's The Idea of Perfection 1999 quilting Marele Day's Lambs of God 1997 knitting and Anne Bartlett's Knitting 2005 knitting Jessica Anderson's Tirra Lirra by the River 1978 embroidery and Marion Halligan's Spider Cup 1990 embroidery

Medical Authority and Englishwomen's Herbal Texts, 1550-1650 Rebecca Laroche, 2016-12-05 The first study to analyze print vernacular folio herbals from the standpoint of gender and to present original findings to do with early modern women's ownership of these herbals Medical Authority and Englishwomen's Herbal Texts also looks at reasons and contexts behind early modern female writers claiming herbal practice Author Rebecca Laroche first establishes cultural backdrops in the gendering of medical authority that takes place in the herbals and the regular ownership of these herbals by women She then examines women's engagements with herbal texts in life writings and poetry and asks how these moments represent and engage medical authority In ultimately demonstrating how female writers variously take on women's herbal medical practices Laroche reveals the broad range of literary potentials within the historical category of women's medicine

Appraisal and the Transcreation of Marketing Texts Nga-Ki Mavis Ho, 2024-01-31 This book contributes to growing debates on transcreation applying an appraisal framework to texts from luxury brands in Chinese and English to reveal new insights into marketing transcreation and set out transcreation as an area of study in its own right The volume charts the origins of the term transcreation emerging from the interplay of established concepts of translation creation localisation and adaptation and ongoing debates on what should be transcreated and how Using these dialogues as a point of departure Ho outlines a way forward for transcreation research by advocating for the use of an appraisal framework taken from work in systemic functional linguistics and employed to evaluate persuasion in language In focusing on marketing texts from the websites of three luxury brands in English and Chinese the book explores how this approach can surface fresh perspectives on the different ways in which the processes and practices of marketing transcreation are used to generate persuasion across languages The volume looks ahead to the implications for other language pairs and the applications of the appraisal framework to understand transcreation practice of other genres such as literary texts This book will be of interest to students and scholars in translation studies and marketing studies     Anglophone Verse Novels as Gutter Texts Dirk

Wiemann,2023-06-15 Anglophone Verse Novels as Gutter Texts draws on the notion of the gutter in graphic narratives the gap between panels that a reader has to imaginatively fill to generate narrative sequence to analyse the largely overlooked literary form of the verse novel Marked at all levels by the tense constellation of segment and sequence and a conspicuously gappy texture verse novels offer productive alternatives to the dominant prose novel in contemporary fiction where a similar gappiness has become a hallmark as illustrated by the loosely interlaced multi strand plot structures of influential world novels Bola o Mitchell Powers The verse novel is a form particularly prolific in the postcolonial world and among diasporic or minoritarian writers in the Global North This study concentrates on two of the most prominent areas in which verse novels distinguish themselves from the prose novel to read texts by Derek Walcott Anne Carson Bernardine Evaristo Patience Agbabi and others In planetary verse novels from the Caribbean Canada Samoa and Hawai i the central trope of the volcano evokes a world in constant un making while post national verse novels particularly in Britain modify the established paradigms of imagined communities Dirk Wiemann s study speculates whether the resurgence of verse novels correlates with the apprehension of inhabiting a world that has become unpredictable and dangerous but also promising a post prosaic world

Feminisms and Early Modern Texts Rebecca Ann Bach,Gwynne Kennedy,2010-08     Immaterial Texts in Late Medieval England Daniel Wakelin,2022-06-09 Daniel Wakelin introduces and reinterprets the misunderstood and overlooked craft practices cultural conventions and literary attitudes involved in making some of the most important manuscripts in late medieval English literature In doing so he overturns how we view the role of scribes showing how they ignored or concealed irregular and damaged parchment ruled pages from habit and convention more than necessity decorated the division of the text into pages or worried that it would harm reading abandoned annotations to poetry focusing on the poem itself and copied English poems meticulously in reverence for an abstract idea of the text Scribes interest in immaterial ideas and texts suggests their subtle thinking as craftspeople in ways that contrast and extend current interpretations of late medieval literary culture material texts and the power of materials For students researchers and librarians this book offers revelatory perspectives on the activities of late medieval scribes Materializing Englishness in Early Medieval Texts Jacqueline Fay, 2022-06-02 The aim of this book is to restore to the story of Englishness the lively material interactions between words bodies plants stones metals and soil among other things that would have characterized it for the early medieval English themselves In particular each chapter demonstrates how a productive collapse or fusion between place and history happens not only in the intellectual realm in ideas but is also a material concern becoming enfolded in encounters between early medieval bodies and a host of material entities Through readings of texts in a wide variety of genres including hagiography heroic poetry and medical and historical works the book argues that Englishness during this period is an embodied identity emergent at the frontier of material and textual interactions that serve productively to occlude history religion and geography The early medieval English body thus results from the rich encounter between the lived environment climate soil landscape features plants and the textual discursive realm that both determines what that environment means and is also itself determined by the material constraints of everyday life Ausonius: Epigrams Bloomsbury Publishing, 2015-03-02 Decimus Magnus Ausonius of Bordeaux whose life spanned the greater part of the fourth century AD was one of the most significant literary and political figures of his age After an academic career in his native Gaul he was appointed tutor to the future emperor Gratian a position through which he achieved great power for himself and his family He was made consul in 379 and later lived to enjoy a ripe old age as the grand old man of Latin letters In this modern edition of Ausonius short poems collected together under the general heading of epigrams N M Kay gives a line by line commentary dealing with points of literary linguistic historical and other interest The epigrams throw light on many aspects of Ausonius life career and attitudes as well as on fourth century Latin literature and will thus be of interest to students of the fourth century western world of Latin literature and of the epigram form in particular This edition includes both Latin text and translation History of Science, History of Text Karine Chemla, 2005-08-01 two main interacting ways They constitute that with which exploration into problems or questions is carried out But they also constitute that which is exchanged between scholars or in other terms that which is shaped by one or by some for use by others In these various dimensions texts obviously depend on the means and technologies available for producing reproducing using and organizing writings In this regard the contribution of a history of text is essential in helping us approach the various historical contexts from which our sources originate However there is more to it While shaping texts as texts the practitioners of the sciences may create new textual resources that intimately relate to the research carried on One may think for instance of the process of introduction of formulas in mathematical texts This aspect opens up a wholerangeofextremelyinterestingquestionstowhichwewillreturnatalaterpoint But practitioners of the sciences also rely on texts produced by themselves or others which they bring into play in various ways More generally they make use of textual resources of every kind that is available to them reshaping them restricting or enlarging them Among these one can think of ways of naming syntax of statements or grammatical analysis literary techniques modes of shaping texts or parts of text genres of text and so on In this sense the practitioners depend on and draw on the textual cultures available to the social and professional groups to which they belong

The Children's Great Texts of the Bible James Hastings, 1921 Multilingual Texts and Practices in Early Modern Europe Peter Auger, Sheldon Brammall, 2023-02-15 This collection offers a cross disciplinary exploration of the ways in which multilingual practices were embedded in early modern European literary culture opening up a dynamic dialogue between contemporary multilingual practices and scholarly work on early modern history and literature The nine chapters draw on translation studies literary history transnational literatures and contemporary sociolinguistic research to explore how multilingual practices manifested themselves across different social cultural and institutional spaces The exploration of a diverse range of contexts allows for the opportunity to engage with questions around how individual practices shape national and transnational language practices and literatures the impact of multilingual practices on identity formation and their implications for creative innovations in bilingual and multilingual texts Taken as a whole the collection paves the way for future conversations on what early modern literary studies and present day multilingualism research might learn from one another and the extent to which historical texts might supply precedents for contemporary multilingual practices This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars in sociolinguistics early modern studies in history and literature and comparative literature

Tellings and Texts Francesca Orsini, Katherine Butler Schofield, 2015-10-05 Examining materials from early modern and contemporary North India and Pakistan Tellings and Texts brings together seventeen first rate papers on the relations between written and oral texts their performance and the musical traditions these performances have entailed The contributions from some of the best scholars in the field cover a wide range of literary genres and social and cultural contexts across the region. The texts and practices are contextualized in relation to the broader social and political background in which they emerged, showing how religious affiliations, caste dynamics and political concerns played a role in shaping social identities as well as aesthetic sensibilities. By doing so, this book sheds light into theoretical issues of more general significance such as textual versus oral norms, the features of oral performance and improvisation, the role of the text in performance, the aesthetics and social dimension of performance, the significance of space in performance history and important considerations on repertoires of story telling. The book also contains links to audio files of some of the works discussed in the text. Tellings and Texts is essential reading for anyone with an interest in South Asian culture and more generally in the theory and practice of oral literature performance and story telling.

Images of Adventure James A. Rushing, Jr., 2016-11-11 Modern audiences are most likely to encounter Yvain and other Arthurian characters in literature. We read Chr tien de Troyes's Yvain or Hartmann von Aue's Iwein and easily slip into the assumption that during the Middle Ages the title character existed primarily or even exclusively in these canonical texts. James A. Rushing Jr contends, however, that many times the number of people who heard or read Chr tien or Hartmann must have known the Yvain story through the varieties of second hand narration, hearsay and conversation that we may call secondary orality. And many other people would have known the story through its visual representations. Exploring the complex relationships between literature and the visual arts in the Middle Ages, Images of Adventure Yvain in the Visual Arts examines pictorial representations of the story of Yvain knight of the Round Table from the thirteenth through the fifteenth centuries. Of the images, Rushing studies only those found in the manuscripts of Chr tien's Yvain. They are placed in any obvious relation with a written text and not even they can be construed as straightforward illustrations. Images of Yvain are presented without any textual anchor in the thirteenth century wall paintings from Schmalkalden in eastern Germany and Rodeneck Castle in the South Tyrol, on the rich embroidery sewn in the fourteenth century for the patrician Malterer family of Freiburg and in a group of English misericords that show Yvain caught in a moment of high adventure and perhaps comic embarrassment. Pictures, according to Pope Gregory the Great, are the literature of the laity. Navigating between the traditional disciplines of literary study and art history, Images of Adventure offers at once a detailed catalog of Yvain images, a series of close readings of works of art and a concrete sense of what Gregory's oft quoted statement may actually have meant in practice.

The Bible Text-Book: Or, the Principal Texts Relating to the Persons, Places, and Subjects Occurring in the Holy Scriptures. [A Dictionary.] Arranged with a Variety of Useful Tables. [With Maps.], 1874

The Dialects of British English in Fictional Texts Donatella Montini, Irene Ranzato, 2021-06-20 This collection brings together perspectives on regional and social varieties of British English in fictional dialogue across works spanning various literary genres, showcasing authorial and translation innovation while also reflecting on their impact on the representation of sociolinguistic polarities The volume explores the ways in which different varieties of British English including Welsh Scots and Received Pronunciation are portrayed across a range of texts including novels films newspapers television series and plays Building on metadiscourse which highlighted the growing importance of accent as an emblem of social stance in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries the chapters in this book examine how popular textual forms create and reinforce links between accent and social persona and accent and individual idiolect A look at these themes as explored through the lens of audiovisual translation and the challenges of dubbing sheds further light on the creative resources authors and translators draw on in representing sociolinguistic realities through accent This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars in dialectology audiovisual translation literary translation and media studies Textiles, Text, Intertext Maren Clegg Hyer, Jill Frederick, 2016 The theme of weaving a powerful metaphor within Anglo Saxon studies and Old English literature itself unites the essays collected here They range from consideration of interwoven sources in homiletic prose and a word weaving poet to woven riddles and iconographical textures in medieval art and show how weaving has the power to represent textiles texts and textures both literal and metaphorical in the early medieval period They thus form an appropriate tribute to Professor Gale R Owen Crocker whose own scholarship has focussed on exploring woven works of textile and dress manuscripts and text and other arts of the Anglo Saxon peoples Guide to Literature of Home and Family Life Annie Isabel Robertson, 1924
