Indigenous knowledge systems and climate change management in Africa

Ajayi, O.C. (ed), Mafongoya, P.L. (ed), 2017-11-15 Climate change presents a profound challenge to food security and sustainable development in Africa. Its negative impacts are likely to be greatest in the African region which is already food insecure. In the face of global climate change and its emerging challenges and unknowns, it is essential that decision makers base policies on the best available knowledge. In recent years, the knowledge of local and indigenous people, often referred to as indigenous knowledge (IK), has been increasingly recognised as an important source of climate knowledge and adaptation strategies. Tourism in Rural Protected Areas Kaitano Dube, Ikechukwu O. Ezeuduji, Magdalena Petronella

Swart, 2025-06-30 Despite its potential to unlock socio-economic benefits in rural and protected areas in a manner that addresses the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG), rural and protected areas tourism is yet to be thoroughly examined by academics, scholars, practitioners and policymakers. This lack of exploration has undermined the potential benefits associated with tourism development in rural and protected areas. Given the complexity of rural tourism, this contributed volume explores current and future debates on the subject using cases in Southern Africa. The book is useful for various audiences including tourism academics, planners, cultural and heritage practitioners and rural development planners. The topics covered include gender transformation, service delivery, visitor experience, wildlife tourism and host community tourism interaction.

A composite index of quality of life for the Gauteng city-region: a principal component analysis approach

Talita Greyling, The improvement of the quality of life of all South Africans is high on the agenda at national, The National Planning Commission 2012 and regional levels of government. The Gauteng Planning Commission 2012 and it is therefore important to develop an instrument that can measure this multi-dimensional concept. The need therefore exists for a composite index of quality of life with the ability to both track the quality of life of people over time and compare it across different demographic and socio-economic groups. Such a measure could identify those demographic and socio-economic groups with low levels of quality of life and also highlight dimensions that need to be prioritised in order to improve the wellbeing of people. In South Africa, there are a limited number of quality of life indices and measures of wellbeing. Indices that measure wellbeing nationally include the Quality of Life Index of Moller and Schlemmer 1983, the Living Standard Measure (LSM) Index produced by the South African Audience Research Foundation (SAARF) 2013, the South African Development Index of the South African Institute of Race Relations 2011 and the Everyday Quality of Life Index (Higgs) 2007. The following indices measure wellbeing at a regional level: the Quality of Metropolitan City Life in South Africa Index (Naude et al 2009), the Non-Economic Quality of Life Index at Sub-National Levels (Rossouw Naude 2008) and the Quality of Life Index of the Gauteng City Region Observatory (GCRO) 2011. Although these quality of life indices make distinctive contributions to the study field, the focus of these studies is often to measure only objective or subjective quality of life or only economic or non-economic quality of life rather than all of the above. Furthermore, many of the indices use equal weighting which does not necessarily reflect the priorities of the communities. Culture and Rural-Urban Revitalisation in South Africa Mziwoxolo

Sirayi, Modimowabarwa Kanyane, Giulio Verdini, 2021-06-14 This book captures ground breaking attempts to utilise culture in territorial development and regeneration processes in the context of South Africa and our new normal brought by COVID 19 the fourth industrial revolution and climate change the world over The importance of culture in rural urban revitalisation has been underestimated in South Africa and the African continent at large Despite some cultural initiatives that are still at developmental stages in big cities such as Johannesburg eThekweni and Cape Town there is concern about the absence of sustainable policies and plans to support culture creativity and indigenous knowledge at national and municipal levels Showcasing alternative strategies for making culture central to development this book discusses opportunities to shift culture and indigenous knowledge from the peripheries and place them at the epicentre of sustainable development and the mainstream of cultural planning which can then be applied in the contexts of Africa and the Global South Governmental institutions research councils civil society organisations private sector and higher education institutions come together in a joint effort to explain the nexus between culture economic development rural urban linkages grassroots and technological innovations Culture and Rural Urban Revitalization in South Africa is an ideal read for those interested in rural and urban planning cultural policy indigenous knowledge and smart rural village model Who's Who in Science and Engineering 2008-2009 Who's Who Marquis, Marquis Who's Who, 2007-12 The Horn of Africa Kidane Mengisteab, 2013-12-17 The Horn of Africa is a deeply troubled region engulfed in three interlocking crises The first is a security crisis characterized by a range of devastating inter state and inter communal conflicts including civil wars The second is an economic crisis evidenced by widespread debilitating poverty chronic food insecurity and frequent cycles of famines The effects of the third environmental crisis are all too visible in the droughts deforestation and desertification ravaging the region What is more these three crises are mutually reinforcing locking the region into a cycle of disaster Conflicts contribute to poverty which in turn intensifies environmental degradation leading to scarcities which fuel further conflicts In this clear and authoritative guide Kidane Mengisteab explores the key drivers of instability in the Horn of Africa suggesting structural and institutional changes that if implemented could help lift the region out of crisis The Horn's complex crises must be tackled in a comprehensive manner But he contends this can only be achieved if the causes of conflict are addressed head on Without peace the region cannot resolve its economic problems and nor can it develop the capabilities required to cope with environmental change The Horn of Africa will be essential reading for students and scholars in conflict and security studies as well as anyone with an interest in learning more about the dynamics of this troubled region Electronic Healthcare Patty Kostkova, Martin Szomszor, David Fowler, 2012-03-28 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post conference proceedings of the 4th International Conference eHealth 2011 held in M laga Spain in November 2011 The 20 revised full papers presented along with 8 short papers were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions in total and cover a wide range of topics including social media analysis knowledge integration and EPR personalisation and patient
