ICTR 2022 5th International Conference on Tourism Research Cândida Silva, Mónica Oliveira, Susana Silva, 2022-05-19 A composite index of quality of life for the Gauteng city-region: a principal component analysis approach Talita Greyling, The improvement of the quality of life of all South Africans is high on the agenda at national The National Planning Commission 2012 and regional levels of government The Gauteng Planning Commission 2012 and it is therefore important to develop an instrument that can measure this multi dimensional concept The need therefore exists for a composite index of quality of life with the ability to both track the quality of life of people over time and compare it across different demographic and socio economic groups Such a measure could identify those demographic and socio economic groups with low levels of quality of life and also highlight dimensions that need to be prioritised in order to improve the wellbeing of people In South Africa there are a limited number of quality of life indices and measures of wellbeing Indices that measure wellbeing nationally include the Quality of Life Index of Moller and Schlemmer 1983 the Living Standard Measure LSM Index produced by the South African Audience Research Foundation SAARF 2013 the South African Development Index of the South African Institute of Race Relations 2011 and the Everyday Quality of Life Index Higgs 2007 The following indices measure wellbeing at a regional level the Quality of Metropolitan City Life in South Africa Index Naude et al 2009 the Non Economic Quality of Life Index at Sub National Levels Rossouw Naude 2008 and the Quality of Life Index of the Gauteng City Region Observatory GCRO 2011 Although these quality of life indices make distinctive contributions to the study field the focus of these studies is often to measure only objective or subjective quality of life or only economic or non economic quality of life rather than all of the above Furthermore many of the indices use equal weighting which does not necessarily reflect the priorities of the communities Pachyderm ,2004 Locally Relevant ICT Research Kirstin Krauss,Marita Turpin,Filistea Naude,2019-01-17 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 10th International Development Informatics Association Conference IDIA 2018 held in Tshwane South Africa in August 2018 The 20 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 61 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections on ICT adoption and impact mobile education e education community development design innovation and maturity data Growing Information: Part I Eli B. Cohen,2009 Biosorption Processes for Heavy Metal Removal Saini, Pinki,2024-03-11 Persistent and non degradable heavy metals stand as pollutants with the potential for severe ecological repercussions when released into the environment Municipal and industrial wastewater face a high risk of contamination by these hazardous substances posing a formidable challenge to water treatment technologies The imperative is clear effective and affordable methods for effluent treatment and metal recovery are essential for meeting regulatory standards and unlocking the latent value of valuable metals within the waste However new methods of accomplishing this challenge are necessary for increasing the effectiveness in both cost and application Biosorption Processes for Heavy Metal Removal comprehensively explores the imperative to remove heavy metals from waste streams It provides an insightful overview of biosorbents and biosorption technology focusing on their underlying biosorption features The compilation within this book comprises of a series of review articles delving into the current understanding of biosorption mechanisms and biochemistry the efficacy of bacterial fungal and algal biomass and practical considerations for biosorbent preparation and engineering The physicochemical evaluations of biosorbents process optimization and factors influencing biosorption efficiency are also covered Furthermore the book explores biosorption applications for removing nutrients organic pollutants and metals in wastewater treatment across diverse contexts Geared towards administrators policymakers consultants industry professionals academicians scientists researchers and graduate and post graduate students in environmental sciences and related fields this book serves as their comprehensive reference The Urban Ecologies of Divided Cities Amira Osman,John Nagle,Sabyasachi Tripathi,2023-06-12 The book discusses how division affect the fabric of cities and people s sense of identity and agency and are reflected in physical features architecture and urban planning The question of divided cities represents a complex and multistranded urban Ecology at once both social and spatial it cannot be limited to a single science or discipline such as social or spatial fields This suggests integrated and cross disciplinary understandings as well as integrated or parallel approaches and solutions Urban ecologies of division manifest in multiple forms One of their most palpable expressions is conflict with parallels around the world and often with correlations in the spatial fabric Violence in such contexts is often a surface expression of deeper socio economic or ideological differences Whether as a result of intervention by authority or by dissent between groups a divided city inevitably becomes a place of conflict in various forms and intensity eroding the joy of living and sense of collective belonging to the detriment of all In effect it erodes the collective advantage of being part of a more unified society A city exists in collections of social structures which mutually form a society A divided city implies divided social structures and in consequence a divided society The papers compiled in this book present many case studies of divided cities discussing the different causes of divisions and their effects on societies Some of the causes can be linked to conflicts wars colonialism or legislative political systems In response to the serious challenges resulting from these divisions the book aims to provide opportunities for new approaches and possibilities for new interventions and solutions making it significant to urban planners architects and policymakers

Manufacturing Terrorism in Africa Mohamed Natheem Hendricks, 2020-07-03 This book uses Securitisation Theory to explore how Muslims have been constructed as a security issue in Africa after the 9 11 attacks in the United States These attacks became the rationale for the US s Global War on Terror GWOT The centrality of Africa as an arena to execute the GWOT is the focus of this book This book explores particularly how western centred security discourses around Muslims has permeated South African security discourse in the post apartheid period It claims that the popular press and the local think tank community were critical knowledge sites that imported rather than interrogated debates which have underpinned policy initiatives such as the GWOT. Such theorisation seems contrary to the original architects of securitisation theory who maintain that issues become security concerns when institutional voices declare these as such. However, this book confirms that non-institutional voices have securitised the African Muslims by equating them with terrorism. This book illustrates that such securitisation reproduces partisan knowledge that promotes Western interests.

South Africa's Water Predicament
 Anja du Plessis, 2023-01-13
 The book provides a critical evaluation of South Africa's freshwater resources to illustrate the way in which its freshwater resources, water access services and infrastructure have continued to decline over the past three decades. The continued decline of water governance, management, water service delivery, dilapidated water infrastructure, dysfunctional local governments and overall excessive water degradation is illustrated and emphasized using real-life examples and case studies from various contexts within the country. The main argument of the book is that South Africa's freshwater resources have declined to such an extent that it can be described as a predicament. Questionable water governance decisions and reactive water management practices have led to no improvement and/or increased degradation of freshwater resources. An overall lack of service delivery exists across the country in various contexts, leading to further water and social decline. An interdisciplinary evaluation of South Africa's current water predicament is provided, with major water crises prioritized and suitable recommendations given to transform its predicament into problems which can be addressed. Suitable background information is given to emphasize the necessity of good water governance, management and service delivery. South Africa's freshwater resources are evaluated with specific focus on the decline of informed water governance, management, service delivery and water quality. Factors requiring urgent attention are determined, and suitable recommendations and/or actions are provided. An evaluation and overall synthesis focused on the transformation of the predicament into problems is provided. Primary water problems are prioritized according to urgency, and suitable recommendations are given to assist in transforming the country's current complex water predicament into simpler water problems. Political will, collaboration with researchers, stakeholders, non-governmental organizations and cooperation of civil society is required. South Africa's already scarce freshwater resources and decaying infrastructure will persist and possibly collapse if no major actions or interventions are implemented.

Territorial Governance and Spatial Transformation in Post-apartheid South Africa
 Daniel du Plessis, 2025-07-05
 The book provides a reflective account of the evolution of the territorial governance structures and processes in South Africa over a period of 30 years after the transition to a post-apartheid society in 1994. It also considers the role and influence of these changing governance institutions and processes and their associated outputs in the form of policies and plans on several priority dimensions of urban spatial transformation. The synthesis of the experiences and lessons learnt provides the bases for contemplating important future focus areas for territorial governance such as spatial transformation towards smart cities, an African perspective for future South African cities and transitioning towards a streamlined integrated territorial governance system The lessons and experiences are not only of local significance in South Africa but also globally in countries and regions faced with territorial governance and spatial transformation challenges
