

THE DUBE TRAIN BY CAN THEMBA

1. Summary

The narrator is at Dube Station in Soweto on a cold Monday morning, waiting for the train to Johannesburg. All his descriptions of the station and people emphasise his depression, which he feels is shared by all the people around him.

When he gets onto the train he sits opposite a huge man. When the train gets to Pheloni Station a young woman enters the carriage and sits next to the narrator. Soon afterwards a tsotsi jumps onto the train and begins verbally harassing the girl. When the girl reaches her stop and wants to get off the train the tsotsi prevents her and slaps her. She tries to get away from him by jumping over the narrator but the tsotsi follows her.

No one dares to say anything to stop the tsotsi, until an older woman starts shouting at the men and calling them cowards. This causes the tsotsi to swear at the woman. This angers the huge man sitting opposite the narrator and he gets up and moves towards the tsotsi. The tsotsi pulls out a knife and cuts the big man's chest and arm. The big man is enraged and, in spite of his injuries, he grabs the tsotsi and lifts him up. He throws him out of the train window.

Everyone is shocked, but the incident soon becomes just another event on the morning Dube train.

2. Title

The title focuses on the train journey rather than on any characters in the story. The writer intends us to see the train journey as a comment on the lives people experience. Even when bad things happen people just accept them. The incident on the train happens to people no one knows or is concerned about. It soon becomes: Just an incident in the morning Dube train.

3. Themes

The main themes of this story are:

- Violence, crime and barbarism in the townships; and

Board of Elections,1945      The Bible, Centres and Margins Johanna Stiebert,Musa W. Dube,2018-08-23 There has rarely been an effort to address the missing dialogue between British and African scholars including in regard to the role of British missionaries during the introduction of the Bible and Christianity to many parts of Africa To break this silence Musa W Dube and Johanna Stiebert collect expressions from both emerging and established biblical scholars in the United Kingdom and predominantly southern African states Divided into three sets of papers these contributions range from the injustices of colonialism to postcolonial critical readings of texts suppression and appropriation each section complete with a responding essay Questioning how well UK students understand African-centred and generated approaches of biblical criticism whether African scholars consider UK centric criticism valid and how accurately the western canon represents current UK based scholarship these essays illustrate the trends and challenges faced in biblical studies in the two centres of study and discusses how these questions are better answered with dialogue rather than in isolation      The Liberation of Method David Janzen,2021-10-19 The field of biblical studies has championed the historical critical method as the only way to guarantee objective interpretation But in recent decades women people of color scholars from the Two Thirds World and members of the the LGBTQIA community have pursued hermeneutical approaches that provide interpretations useful for marginalized communities who see the Bible as a resource in their struggles against oppression Such liberative strategies remain at the margins of the field The Liberation of Method argues that this marginality must end and that liberative methods should become the central methods of biblical studies The first part of the book draws upon the hermeneutics of philosophical pragmatism to argue that because readers are responsible for the interpretation there is no necessary connection between the meanings they produce and the ones ancient authors may have intended As a result the historical critical method which prioritizes the study of the ancient contexts of biblical writings becomes an optional rather than a necessary aspect of interpretation The second part of The Liberation of Method argues that if we truly hope to create an ethical academic field more privileged scholars and students must see their minoritized colleagues as the leaders in the field as models of the ethical liberative standards of interpretation
