American Journal of Respiratory and Critical Care Medicine ,2009 Adapted Physical Activity Gudrun Doll-Tepper, Christoph Dahms, Bernd Doll, Harald v. Selzam, 2012-12-06 From 21 24 June 1989 the International Federation of Adapted Physical Activity IF APA held its 7th International Symposium Adapted Physical Activity An Interdisciplinary Approach in Berlin West This was the first time that this symposium has been held in a German speaking country and it presented unique challenges to the organizers For example neither the term nor the field of adapted physical activity was known in Germany before the symposium Thus at the outset the organizers task was to define the meaning of adapted physical activity as a concept and to identify areas and professionals associated with it After lengthy and intense discussions we agreed on the following definition Adapted physical activity refers to movement physical activity and sports in which special emphasis is placed on the interests and capabilities of individuals with limiting conditions such as the disabled health impaired or aged Despite the fact that the use of an English term for a symposium in Germany would not be accepted by all German speaking professionals it was decided to use this term because no translation appeared to be fully adequate Sports for the Disabled Modified Movement Activities Sport Therapy or Psychomotor Exercises would have represented only single aspects of adapted physical activity and were thus incomplete

Lambers, Univ. de les Illes Balears, 2006-03-30 Respiration in plants as in all living organisms is essential to provide metabolic energy and carbon skeletons for growth and maintenance As such respiration is an essential component of a plant's carbon budget Depending on species and environmental conditions it consumes 25-75% of all the carbohydrates produced in photosynthesis even more at extremely slow growth rates Respiration in plants can also proceed in a manner that produces neither metabolic energy nor carbon skeletons but heat This type of respiration involves the cyanide resistant alternative oxidase it is unique to plants and resides in the mitochondria The activity of this alternative pathway can be measured based on a difference in fractionation of oxygen isotopes between the cytochrome and the alternative oxidase Heat production is important in some flowers to attract pollinators however the alternative oxidase also plays a major role in leaves and roots of most plants A common thread throughout this volume is to link respiration including alternative oxidase activity to plant functioning in different environments
