Responsible purchasing of palm oil: a guide for manufacturers and retailers

Why do we need sustainable palm oil?

Many products found on retail shelves contain palm oil as its derivatives, including chocolate, baked goods, processed foods, cosmetics, pharmaceuticals, detergents and many others. Palm oil is a highly efficient crop and versatile oil, accounting for 15 per cent of all vegetable oil traded internationally. Global production of palm oil has increased steadily since 1970, driven largely by population growth and rising incomes. Current drive estimates are at least a further 50 per cent growth by 2050.

The impacts of this rapid expansion of palm oil have been both positive and negative. On the one hand, oil palm has contributed to unprecedented economic growth and rural development especially in Southeast Asia. On the other hand, it has been a major driver of deforestation, destroying the habitats of critically endangered species, displacing local communities and contributing to harmful climate change. Palm oil buyers have a key role in ensuring that the future expansion of the industry has only positive impacts.

What can companies do?

By purchasing certified sustainable palm oil (CSPO) from responsible growers, companies can help stop the destruction of forests in Southeast Asia (the source of 15 per cent of the world's palm oil), Africa and Latin America. CSPO is palm oil that has been produced in plantations that are developed and managed according to robust environmental, social and economic standards. By buying CSPO, manufacturers and retailers reinforce the incentives for their suppliers, and the palm oil growers they buy from, to act more sustainably.

PALM OIL AND DEFORESTATION

Rapid expansion of palm oil plantations, especially in Southeast Asia, has replaced tropical rainforests, which contain some of the world's most biologically diverse ecosystems and are home to endangered species such as orang utans, elephants, tigers and rhinos. Oil palm plantations have also been linked to social impacts, including loss of land, air pollution, a decline in water quality, and disregard for the rights and interests of local communities.
