Poiesis and Enchantment in Topological Matter Xin Wei Sha, 2013-12-06 A groundbreaking conception of interactive media inspired by continuity field and process with fresh implications for art computer science and philosophy of technology In this challenging but exhilarating work Sha Xin Wei argues for an approach to materiality inspired by continuous mathematics and process philosophy Investigating the implications of such an approach to media and matter in the concrete setting of installation or event based art and technology Sha maps a genealogy of topological media that is of an articulation of continuous matter that relinquishes a priori objects subjects and egos and yet constitutes value and novelty Doing so he explores the ethico aesthetic consequences of topologically creating performative events and computational media Sha s interdisciplinary investigation is informed by thinkers ranging from Heraclitus to Alfred North Whitehead to Gilbert Simondon to Alain Badiou to Donna Haraway to Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari. Sha traces the critical turn from representation to performance citing a series of installation events envisioned and built over the past decade. His analysis offers a fresh way to conceive and articulate interactive materials of new media, one inspired by continuity, field, and philosophy of process. Sha explores the implications of this for philosophy and social studies of technology and science relevant to the creation of research and art. Weaving together philosophy, aesthetics, critical theory, mathematics, and media studies, he shows how thinking about the world in terms of continuity and process can be informed by computational technologies and what such thinking implies for emerging art and technology.

On the Edge of Magnetic Fusion Devices Sergei Krashenninnikov, Andrei Smolyakov, Andrei Kukushkin, 2020-09-07. This book reviews the current state of understanding concerning edge plasma which bridges hot fusion plasma with a temperature of roughly one million degrees Kelvin with plasma facing materials which have melting points of only a few thousand degrees Kelvin. In a fact, edge plasma is one of the keys to solution for harnessing fusion energy in magnetic fusion devices. The physics governing the processes at work in the edge plasma involves classical and anomalous transport of multispecies plasma, neutral gas dynamics, atomic physics, effects, radiation transport, plasma material interactions, and even the transport of plasma species within the plasma facing materials. The book starts with simple physical models, then moves on to rigorous theoretical considerations and state of the art simulation tools that are capable of capturing the most important features of the edge plasma phenomena. The authors compare the conclusions arising from the theoretical and computational analysis with the available experimental data. They also discuss the remaining gaps in their models and make projections for phenomena related to edge plasma in magnetic fusion reactors.
