Ferreira, Michael Walton, 2005-01-01 Inequality of opportunity both within and among nations sustains extreme deprivation results in wasted human potential and often weakens prospects for overall prosperity and economic growth concludes the 2006 World Development Report To correct this situation and reduce poverty more effectively Equity and Development recommends ensuring more equitable access by the poor to health care education jobs capital and secure land rights among others It also calls for greater equality of access to political freedoms and political power breaking down stereotyping and discrimination and improving access by the poor to justice systems and infrastructure To level the playing field among countries and thereby reduce global inequities that hurt the poor in developing countries the report calls for removal of trade barriers in rich countries flexibility to allow greater in migration of lower skilled people from developing countries and increased and more effective development assistance World

Development Report 2006 World Bank, World Bank Group, 2005-09 Inequality of opportunity both within and among nations sustains extreme deprivation results in wasted human potential and often weakens prospects for overall prosperity and economic growth concludes the 2006 World Development Report To correct this situation and reduce poverty more effectively Equity and Development recommends ensuring more equitable access by the poor to health care education jobs capital and secure land rights among others It also calls for greater equality of access to political freedoms and political power breaking down stereotyping and discrimination and improving access by the poor to justice systems and infrastructure To level the playing field among countries and thereby reduce global inequities that hurt the poor in developing countries the report calls for removal of trade barriers in rich countries flexibility to allow greater in migration of lower skilled people from developing countries and increased and more effective development assistance World Development Report 2012 The

The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development / The World Bank The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development / The World Bank, 2011-09-28 The lives of women around the world have improved dramatically at a pace and scope difficult to imagine even 25 years ago Women have made unprecedented gains in rights education health and access to jobs and livelihoods More countries than ever guarantee equal rights in property marriage and other domains Gender gaps in primary schooling have closed in many countries while in a third of all countries girls now outnumber boys in secondary school And more young women than men attend universities in 60 countries Women are using their education to participate more in the labor force they now make up for 40 percent of the global labor force and 43 percent of its farmers Moreover women now live longer than men in every region of the world Despite the progress gaps remain in many areas Women are more likely to die relative to males in many low and middle income countries than their counterparts in rich countries especially in childhood and during their reproductive years Primary and secondary school enrollments for girls remain much lower than for boys in many Sub Saharan African countries and some parts of South Asia as well as among disadvantaged populations Women are more likely than men to work as unpaid family laborers or in the informal sector to farm smaller plots and grow less profitable crops operate in smaller firms and less profitable sectors and generally earn less Women especially poor women have less say over decisions and less control over household resources And in most countries fewer women participate in formal politics than men and are underrepresented in the upper echelons The World Development Report 2012 Gender Equality and Development argues that closing these persistent gender gaps matters It matters because gender equality is a core development objective in its own right But it is also smart economics Greater gender equality can enhance productivity improve development outcomes for the next generation and make institutions more representative Building on a growing body of knowledge on the economics of gender equality and development the Report identifies the areas where gender gaps are most significant both intrinsically and in terms of their potential development payoff and where growth alone cannot solve the issues It then sets forth four priorities for public action Reducing excess female mortality and closing education gaps where they remain Improving access to economic opportunities for women Increasing women's voice and agency in the household and in society Limiting the reproduction of gender inequality across generations

World Development Report 2012 World Bank, 2011-09-01 This year's World Development Report looks at facts and trends regarding the various dimensions of gender equality in the context of the development process The World Bank Legal Review, Volume 2: Law, Equity and Development The World Bank, 2006-12-31 The World Bank Legal Review is a publication for policy makers and their advisers attorneys and other professionals engaged in the field of international development It offers a combination of legal scholarship lessons from experience legal developments and recent research on the many ways in which the application of the law and the improvement of justice systems promote poverty reduction economic development and the rule of law In keeping with the theme of the World Development Report 2006 Equity and Development and following the success of the World Bank Group's Legal Forum on Law Equity and Development in December 2005 volume 2 of The World Bank Legal Review focuses on issues of equity and development The volume draws together some of the key ideas of the Legal Forum including articles by many of its distinguished participants and explores the role of equity in the development process highlighting how legal and regulatory frameworks and equitable justice systems can do much to level the playing field in the political economic and sociocultural domains as well as how they can reinforce existing inequalities Consistent with the interdisciplinary nature of this endeavour Law Equity and Development contains work by academics and practitioners in law criminal justice economics human rights social development cultural studies and anthropology

Towards Gender Equity in Development Siwan Anderson, Lori Beaman, Jean-Philippe Platteau, 2018-10-22 As a result of widespread mistreatment and overt discrimination women in the developing world often lack autonomy Towards Gender Equity in Development brings together leading scholars working on gender issues to explore key sources of female empowerment and discuss the current challenges and opportunities for the future Exploring three key domains this book adopts a clear multi disciplinary approach to present different perspectives from gender focused economics and social research It covers marriage and women s relative bargaining position within the household the options available to women outside of marriage and in the context of their community and overarching discriminatory laws and cultural norms It engages with questions of how marriage divorce and remarriage practices have evolved and with what effects for women how female empowerment can benefit from improving options and economic and collective action opportunities and how the government can act as a lawmaker to contribute to modifying norms and practices that disadvantage women

The Politics of Global Competitiveness Paul Cammack,2022 Marx predicted in Capital 1867 that as capitalism became global patterns of work would be transformed and workers would need to develop versatility flexibility and mobility This general law of social production as he called it is now in evidence all around us in global value chains zero hours contracts and contract work organised through digital platforms It results from competition between capitalists scientific and technological revolutions in production and incessant advances in the division of labour as production processes are broken down into ever smaller steps This book documents the leading roles of the Paris based Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development and the Washington based World Bank as advocates of these developments They do not as generally supposed simply represent the interests of the advanced economies or the West and their transnational corporations They promote a single global model of capitalist development without limits and on a genuinely global scale It calls upon all states to adjust continually to the structural and social demands of competitiveness which they see as essential to the global hegemony of capital over labour The OECD and the World Bank propose policies that give girls and women equal access to education and paid work reform welfare to make work pay introduce flexible labour contracts that make hiring and firing easier focus education on skills that boost employability and draw workers in the developing world from the informal sector into the formal sector where they can be more productive This is the politics of global competitiveness

access to energy in the sustainable development goals the role of energy to human existence was finally recognized Yet in Africa this achievement is far from realized Omorogbe and Ordor bring together experts in their fields to ask what is stalling progress examining problems from institutions catering to vested interests at the continent's expense to a need to develop vigorous financial and fiscal frameworks The ramifications and complications of energy law are labyrinthine this volume discusses how energy deficits can burden disabled people women and children in excess of their more fortunate counterparts as well as considering environmental issues including the delicate balance between the necessity of water for drinking and cleaning and the use of water in industrial processes A pivotal work of scholarship the book poses pressing questions for energy law and international human rights     Understanding Growth and Poverty Raj Nallari, Breda Griffith, 2011 Provides an understanding of economic policies for poverty reduction in developing countries The policy areas include the various roles of government in ensuring the effective operation of a market economy conducting fiscal policy and influencing the money supply exchange rates and the financial sector     The Global Rise of Social Cash Transfers Lutz Leisering, 2019 This volume analyses the phenomenon of social cash transfers in the global South providing a definitive and comprehensive overview of current practice     Democracies in Peril Ida Bastiaens, Nita Rudra, 2018-07-05 Explains the political factors behind the failure of many developing country democracies to benefit from globalization     Inherited Wealth, Justice and Equality John Cunliffe, Guido Erreygers, 2013 The core of the book consists of a selection of papers presented at an international workshop where researchers from a variety of fields and countries discussed the connections between inherited wealth justice and equality The volume is complemented by a few other papers commissioned by the editors The contributions cover historical political philosophical sociological and economic aspects     Regional Development and Public Policy Challenges in India Rakhee Bhattacharya, 2015-07-09 This book emphasizes the need for experimenting with more deliberate and rigorous policy processes to attain balanced regional development which can promote both equity and efficiency in India's development discourse The institutional mechanisms for dealing with regional imbalance in India have not been very successful so far With rising discrepancies in development demand for autonomy continues along with a new dimension of regionalism arising from submerged identity along with political and economic aspirations which demanded new channels for solution So far attempts to create space for autonomy have possibly not optimally accommodated the conceptual mechanisms like equity and democratic process Thus democratizing policy process using six pillars of voice knowledge objective fundamental values implementation framework and public awareness can ensure a better policy outcome for dealing with the persistent challenges of regional disparity in India This book further focuses on the need for democratizing the policy process for regional development through discussion and inclusion Such a transition needs innovation in policy regime which can be attained through following six pillars i Democratic voice of stakeholders in policy development and implementation ii Clear policy objectives that advance the common good based on voice iii Unbiased sound and comprehensive knowledge and data bases iv Consistency with constitutional values v A sound implementation framework ensuring user friendliness transparency and rationality of decision making processes effective grievance redress clear accountability and independent evaluation vi Public awareness and support of policies with relevant and public participation in implementation
