These issues are addressed through chapters detailing case studies from estuaries and coastal waters worldwide, presenting a full range of natural variability and human pressures. Following this, a series of chapters written by scientific leaders worldwide synthesizes the problems and offers solutions for specific issues, graded within the framework of the socio-economic environmental mosaic. These include fisheries, climate change, coastal megacities, evolving human-nature interactions, remediation measures, and integrated coastal management. The problems faced by half of the world living near coasts are truly a worldwide challenge, as well as an opportunity for scientists to study commonalities and differences and provide solutions. This book is centered around the proposed DAPSI W R M framework, where drivers of basic human needs require activities that each produce pressures. The pressures are mechanisms of state change on the natural system and impacts on societal welfare, including well-being. These problems then require responses, which are the solutions relating to governance, socio-economic, and cultural measures. Scharin et al 2016 Covers estuaries and coastal seas worldwide.

Violence in Psychiatry Katherine D. Warburton,Stephen M. Stahl,2016-04-28 The association between violence and mental illness is well studied yet remains highly controversial Currently there does appear to be a trend of increasing violence in hospital settings including both civilly and forensically committed populations In fact physical aggression is the primary reason for admission to many hospitals Given that violence is now often both a reason for admission and a barrier to discharge there is a pressing need for violence to be re conceptualized as a primary medical condition not as the by product of one Furthermore treatment settings need to be enhanced to address the new types of violence exhibited in inpatient environments and this modification needs to be geared toward balancing safety with treatment This book focuses on violence from assessment through underlying neurobiology to treatment and other recommendations for practice This will be of interest to forensic psychiatrists general adult psychiatrists psychiatric residents psychologists psychiatric social workers and rehabilitation therapists
