Global Development Of Policy Regimes To Combat Climate Change Alex Bowen, Nicholas Stern, John

Whalley, 2014-04-01 The year 2015 will be a landmark year for international climate change negotiations. Governments have agreed to adopt a universal legal agreement on climate change at the 21st Conference of Parties COP21 to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change UNFCCC in Paris in 2015. The agreement will come into force no later than 2020. This book focuses on the prospects for global agreement, how to encourage compliance with any such agreement and perspectives of key players in the negotiations: the United States, India, China and the EU. It finds that there is strong commitment to the established UN institutions and processes within which the search for further agreed actions will occur. There are already a myriad of local and regional policies that are helping to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and build mutual confidence. However, the chapters in the book also highlight potential areas of discord. For instance, varying interpretations of the common but differentiated responsibilities of developing countries agreed as part of the UNFCCC could be a major sticking point for negotiators. When combined with other issues such as the choice of consumption or production as the basis for mitigation commitments, the appropriate time frame and base date for their measurement and whether level or intensity commitments are to be negotiated, the challenges that need to be overcome are considerable. The authors bring to bear insights from economics, public finance and game theory. Risking Capitalism Susanne Soederberg, 2016-10-28 This volume examines diverse meanings and practices of risk management ranging from austerity to climate change to housing and debt. The authors investigate the relationship between shifts in contemporary capitalism and the ways in which neoliberal forms of risk management have emerged, been reproduced and normalized and transformed historically. Managing

Impact Assessment:
IFPRI 2020 conference "Leveraging Agriculture for Improving Nutrition and Health" Paarlberg, Robert, 2012-12-18

The IFPRI 2020 Conference on Leveraging Agriculture for Improving Nutrition and Health was held in New Delhi India February 10-12 2011 and attracted more than 900 attendees Conference activities included 12 plenary sessions 15 parallel sessions 14 side events an ongoing knowledge fair with more than 25 exhibit booths and tables six informal discussion groups and roughly 30 rapid fire presentations during coffee breaks Assessing the impact of this Conference is a task complicated by multiple issues such as assessment coverage and impact attribution The assessment methods used here include surveys of conferees Internet searches website and literature searches and extensive personal interviews Distinctions are drawn between short term and medium term impacts and also among impacts on individuals on institutions and on professional discourse Impacts on individual conferees were measured through pre and post Conference surveys and telephone interviews The impacts on the substantive views of those who attended the Conference were found to be small Most conferees 75 percent came to Delhi already convinced that a cross sector approach to agriculture nutrition and health ANH was appropriate At the individual level the Conference impacted motivation and empowerment more than beliefs The Conference gave those who attended new information new networking opportunities and various positioning advantages that made them more effective within their own institutions back home Such advantages were primarily important in the short term Regarding impacts on institutions the 2020 Conference produced important but mixed results Direct impacts on national governments were small in part because ministerial structures and bureaucratic routines in governments are traditionally segregated by sector and resistant to anything more than incremental change Direct impacts from the 2020 Conference on private companies and NGOs were also modest but for a different reason these institutions are inherently comfortable working across sectors so most of the private companies and NGOs participating in the Conference felt little need to change The strongest institutional impacts from the Conference came within a category of organizations that wanted to integrate nutrition with agriculture but were unsure of how or how quickly to move forward These institutions included the CGIAR itself as it moved to create the CGIAR Research Program on Agriculture for Nutrition and Health CRP4 the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization FAO as it responded to an internal evaluation of its own work in nutrition and a number of donor institutions including most prominently the UK's Department for International Development DFID which used the materials and policy energy generated by the 2020 Conference to help guide and push a major expansion of bilateral funding into the ANH arena These DFID responses alone were a large enough payoff to mark the Conference a success A third significant impact from the Conference was on professional discourse The 2020 Conference helped change the conversation about agriculture and food security by boosting the frequency of reference to cross sector impacts on both nutrition and health Impact measurement becomes difficult here because the Conference was not the only initiative highlighting cross sector linkages underway Nonetheless the average number of Google Internet hits per search for the phrase linking agriculture nutrition and health increased from 9 288 in the pre Conference period to 13 508 in the immediate post Conference period of March May 2011 Searches of organization websites revealed that 18 of 21 of the sites had more links to agriculture nutrition and health issues immediately following the Conference compared to just before and 20 of 21 had an even higher number of such links one year later in July 2012 The most obvious limitation on impact has been at the level of national government policy excluding donor policies Partly this reflects attendance Only 19 percent of those who attended the 2020 Conference were government officials compared to 41 percent who came from research institutes or universities Yet even where Conference impacts on governments might have seemed probable they have proved so far to be mostly tentative or modest The government of Malawi co hosted its own version of the 2020 Conference in Lilongwe in September 2011 While this was an important step the Conference was donor suggested and donor funded and senior officials from the Ministry of Health were unable to attend In Uganda the 2020 Conference helped sustain an effort to mainstream nutrition within the Ministry of Agriculture However this effort was underway before the Conference and parallel efforts from USAID WFP and FAO did as much to sustain it In China the leadership of the State Food and Nutrition Consultation Committee was briefed on 2020 Conference materials which may have helped to establish a new but already approved food safety and nutrition development institute at the Chinese Academy of Agricultural Sciences CAAS Since Chinese leaders had been unable to attend the Conference itself impacts in the country also depended heavily on a separate outreach effort by IFPRI leadership In India national officials and researchers and IFPRI made concerted efforts to use the Conference to shape language in the new 12th Five Year Plan 2012 16 While some engaged in this effort claimed progress in that direction nothing definitive has emerged and in India it appears that little has changed in the traditional separation between the agriculture ministry and the nutrition and health sectors The Conference s largest impacts within India were felt at the individual level at the level of discourse or within some state administrations not within national governmental institutions What can one reasonably expect when looking for impacts from a single international Conference In the case of the 2020 Conference in Delhi where the goal was to change the way individuals and institutions were thinking about ANH issues and considering them in professional discourse measurable progress was made toward each of these goals in both the short term and the medium term IFPRI took a risk by designing the Delhi Conference to challenge traditional paradigms This assessment shows that in both the short term and medium term the risk has been rewarded Geo-Regional Competitiveness in Central and Eastern Europe, the Baltic Countries, and Russia Zhuplev, Anatoly, Liuhto, Kari, 2014-05-31 The changing dynamics in the European region and beyond the unfolding political economic challenges across the European Union and the rising global power of emerging economic powers require knowledge skills and methodological platforms inducing strategies and operations in the new and ever changing business landscape Geo Regional Competitiveness in Central and Eastern Europe the Baltic Countries and Russia seeks to address East Central Europe's ECE the Baltics and Russia's increasingly important roles as emerging markets and competitive economic players in the European region This premier reference work is designated for scholars professionals government agencies think tanks and other individuals organizations and institutions interested in gaining a deeper understanding of the geo regional strategic business dynamics and landscape involving ECE the Baltics and Russia Scandalous Economics Aida A. Hozic, Jacqui True, 2016-03-10 Of all of the lies fragile alliances and predatory financial dealings that have been revealed in the wake of the Global Financial Crisis of 2008 we have yet to come to terms with the ways in which structural inequalities around gender and race factor into and indeed make possible the current economic order Scandalous Economics is about silences the astonishing neglect of gender and race in explanations of the Global Financial Crisis But it is also about noises the sexual scandals and gendered austerity policies that have relegated public debate and the crisis itself into political oblivion While feminist economists and movements such as Occupy Wall Street have pointed to the distributional inequalities that are an effect of financial deregulation scholars haven't really grappled with the representational inequalities inherent in the way we view the politics of the market For example capitalism won't be made more equitable simply by appointing women to leadership positions within financial firms or corporations And the next crisis will not be averted if our understandings of gendered inequalities are framed by sexual scandals in media and popular culture We need to look at the activities and the privileges of the advantaged the TED women of the crisis as much as the victimization of the disadvantaged to fully grasp the interplay between gender and economy in this fragile age of restoration Scandalous Economics breaks new ground by doing precisely this It argues that normalization of the post GFC economic order in the face of its obvious breakdowns has been facilitated by co-optation of feminist and queer perspectives into national and international responses to the crisis Scandalous Economics builds upon the Occupy movement and other critical analysis of the GFC to comprehensively examine gendered material ideational and representational dimensions that have served to make the crisis and its effects the new normal in Europe and America as well as Latin America and Asia The Youth Dividend Jan H. Hofmeyr, 2012
