Restructuring The Postwar World Chapter 33 Key:

Why Nations Realign Kal Holsti, 2015-10-14 This book originally published in 1982 analyzes the process of radical foreign policy change how states restructure their foreign relations and why they do so Using a common analytical framework the authors examine Bhutan Burma Canada China and Tanzania They distinguish between piecemeal foreign policy change and adaptation and the fundamental re ordering of foreign policy Their analysis underlines the extent to which non military and sometimes imagined threats such as dependency and external economic and cultural penetration can constitute an important cause of radical realignment activity Restructuring Of Physical Sciences In Europe And The United States - 1945-1960, The - Proceedings Of The International Conference Michelangelo De Maria, Mario Grilli, Fabio Sebastiani, 1989-06-01 Restructuring Relations Rauna Johanna Kuokkanen, 2019 Self determination foundational value Indigenous self government structures in Canada Greenland and S pmi Implementing indigenous self determination self administration repatriation or independence Gendering indigenous self government Self determination and violence against indigenous women Indigenous gender justice as restructuring relations Restructuring Relations Rauna Kuokkanen, 2019-03-01 Adopted in 2007 the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples establishes self determination including free prior and informed consent as a foundational right and principle Self determination both individual and collective is among the most important and pressing issues for Indigenous women worldwide Yet Indigenous women s interests have been overlooked in the formulation of Indigenous self government and existing studies of Indigenous self government largely ignore issues of gender As such the current literature on Indigenous governance conceals patriarchal structures and power that create barriers for women to resources and participation in Indigenous societies Drawing on Indigenous and feminist political and legal theory as well as extensive participant interviews in Canada Greenland and Scandinavia this book argues that the current rights discourse and focus on Indigenous state relations is too limited in scope to convey the full meaning of self determination for Indigenous peoples The book conceptualizes self determination as a foundational value informed by the norm of integrity and suggests that Indigenous self determination cannot be achieved without restructuring all relations of domination nor can it be secured in the absence of gender justice As a foundational value self determination seeks to restructure all relations of domination not only hegemonic relations with the state Importantly it challenges the opposition between self determination and gender created and maintained by international law Indigenous political discourse and Indigenous institutions Restructuring relations of domination further entails examining the gender regimes present in existing Indigenous self government institutions interrogating the relationship between Indigenous self determination and gender violence and considering future visions of Indigenous self determination such as repatriation of Indigenous governance and an independent statehood Making Feminist Sense of the Global Justice Movement Catherine Eschle, Bice Maiguashca, 2010-01-16 In recent years the global justice movement has grabbed headlines and reshaped political imaginations worldwide Surprisingly however feminism is largely absent from accounts of the movement despite the fact that feminists are extensively involved on the ground Addressing this significant gap in the literature Eschle and Maiguashca shine a powerful light on what they term feminist antiglobalization activism Drawing on their fieldwork at the World Social Forum and European Social Forum 2003 2005 they begin by outlining the vital role of feminist antiglobalization activism in Forum processes and events while also emphasizing its diversity The authors then trace the origins of this activism the critiques and aspirations of those involved their political practices beyond the Forum and their efforts to forge a sense of solidarity among themselves and with others Taking feminism seriously Eschle and Maiguashca conclude points us toward a richer and more theoretically nuanced understanding of the global justice movement and its struggle to create other possible worlds Their book thus offers vital insights not only for feminists but also for all those interested in contemporary social movements and in global governance and resistance

The Global Village of the Twentieth Century Gloria K. Fiero, 1995 Metropolitan Migrants Rubén Hernández-León, 2008-09-02 Challenging many common perceptions this book is dedicated to understanding a major new phenomenon the large number of skilled urban workers who are coming to America from Mexico's cities Based on a ten year study of one working class neighbourhood in Monterrey the book studies the forces that lead to Mexican emigration

The Surveillance Web Mike McCahill, 2013-01-11 The rise of CCTV and surveillance technologies has been one of the key developments in contemporary society but its impact has often been analysed in a fragmented manner This book addresses this issue by providing a detailed micro sociological account of the construction of a CCTV network in one English city It differs from previous studies which have concentrated on open street CCTV systems in documenting and analysing the use of visual surveillance systems in a number of different locations and institutional settings including the industrial workplace shopping malls high rise housing schemes and hospitals It is concerned not just with abstract categories of grand theory but seeks to explain how people living in contemporary society experience these changes The Surveillance Web situates the growth of visual surveillance systems in the context of many of the key concerns of theorists of modernity and makes a key contribution to understanding the nature of the relationship between surveillance and society Its starting point is to view the relationship between surveillance and society as a two way process the book looks at both the social impact of visual surveillance systems and at how the impact of these technologies is shaped by existing social relations political practice and cultural traditions provides a richly textured account and analysis of the introduction of visual surveillance technologies CCTV in an English city explores the impact of the introduction and use of visual surveillance systems in a wide variety of locales and institutional settings both public and private makes a key contribution to theoretical debates over the relationship between surveillance systems and society one of the central concerns of theorists of modernity

Globalization, Global Security, and New International Realities for Modern Democracies Alaverdov, Emilia, Abuseridze, Giga, 2025-05-16 Globalization offers both opportunities and threats influencing political economic and social spheres worldwide While its everyday manifestations are often seen as natural they result from political decisions by governments and legislative bodies with the decline of sovereign states roles leaving a gap in legitimate global authority The creation of global democracy risks reflecting the dominance of a few international powers but the political processes shaping globalization remain crucial to democratic systems In terms of global security a system based on international law is essential focusing on disarmament environmental protection and combating terrorism while also addressing issues like ethno-political conflicts The current crisis in international relations marked by divergent views and the rise of proxy and hybrid wars calls for the establishment of new rules and global structures that can better reflect the complexities of a rapidly changing world

Globalization Global Security and New International Realities for Modern Democracies explores the complex and interconnected forces shaping the modern world focusing on globalization global security and the evolving dynamics of international relations It examines how globalization driven by political decisions and technological advancements reshapes economies societies and cultures while creating new challenges related to sovereignty democracy and governance This book covers topics such as geopolitics global business policymaking and is a useful resource for business owners government officials policymakers academicians researchers and political scientists

The Canadian Defence Industry in the New Global Environment Alistair D. Edgar, David G. Haglund, 1995 The defence industry in Canada is facing serious challenges Declining defence expenditures protectionism in Canada's principal markets political resistance and escalating costs of weapons technology all threaten it The Canadian Defence Industry in the New Global Environment is a thorough examination and assessment of the problems and prospects of the industry given the recent dramatic changes that have transformed the international security environment

New Economic Spaces in Asian Cities Peter W. Daniels, K.C. Ho, Thomas A. Hutton, 2012-04-27 The East and

Southeast Asia region constitutes the world's most compelling theatre of accelerated globalization and industrial restructuring. Following a spectacular realization of the industrialization paradigm and a period of services-led growth, the early twenty-first century economic landscape among leading Asian states now comprises a burgeoning New Economy spectrum of the most advanced industrial trajectories including finance, the knowledge economy, and the new cultural economy. In an agenda-setting volume, New Economic Spaces in Asian Cities draws on stimulating research conducted by a new generation of urban scholars to generate critical analysis and theoretical insights on the New Economy phenomenon within Asia. New industry formation and the transformation of older economic practices constitute instruments of development as well as signifiers of larger processes of change expressed in the reproduction of space in the city. Asia's major cities become the key staging areas for the New Economy driven by the growing wealth of an urban middle and professional class, higher education institutions, city-based inter-regional movements, and urban mega-projects. New Economic Spaces in Asian Cities animates this New Economy discourse by means of vibrant storylines of instructive cities and sites, including case studies situated in cities such as Tokyo, Seoul, Shanghai, Beijing, Shenzhen, and Singapore. Theoretical and normative issues associated with the emergence of the new cultural economy are the subject of the book's context-setting chapters, and each case study presents an evocative narrative of development interdependencies and exemplary outcomes on the ground. New Economic Spaces in Asian Cities offers a vivid contribution to our understanding of the ongoing transformation of Asia's urban system, including the critical intersections of global and local regional dynamics in processes of new industry formation and the relayering of space in the Asian metropolis. The synthesis of empirical profiles, normative insights, and theoretical reference points enhances the book's interest for scholars and students in fields of Asian studies, urban and cultural studies, and urban and economic geography, as well as for policy specialists and urban community planners.

Marxism Against Postmodernism in Educational Theory Mike Cole, Dave Hill, Peter McLaren, 2002-12-11

Postmodernism has become the orthodoxy in educational theory. It heralds the end of grand theories like Marxism and liberalism, scorning any notion of a united feminist challenge to patriarchy, of united anti-racist struggle, and of united working-class movements against capitalist exploitation and oppression. For postmodernists, the world is fragmented, history is ended, and all struggles are local and particularistic. Written by internationally renowned British and American educational theorists, Marxism Against Postmodernism in Educational Theory is a substantially revised edition of the original 1999 work. Postmodernism in Educational Theory critically examines the infusion of postmodernism and theories of postmodernity into educational theory, policy, and research. The writers argue that postmodernism provides neither a viable educational politics nor the foundation for effective radical educational practice and offer an alternative politics of human resistance which puts the challenge to capitalism firmly on the agenda of educational theory, politics, and practice.
