assessment to be useful for evaluating and monitoring learning improving student performance and for accountability their assessment practices are rarely seen as directly supporting student learning it is not that teachers do not know how to implement the mandated assessment reforms Instead they are reluctant to adopt and embrace the reforms because they consider them to be contradictory to their teaching roles and overly burdensome if not implausible given the physical economic and cultural contexts of teaching and learning This book argues that improving traditional assessments rather than radically transforming them can be more effective for cultivating practices that suit the physical political economic and cultural contexts of Tanzanian schools Highlighting the significance of sociocultural factors in educators professional practices while also illustrating the major challenges in implementing global reform agendas in diverse contexts it is a valuable resource for educators and scholars interested in development and educational reform in African contexts
