Metaphysical Africa Michael Muhammad Knight, 2020-09-15 The Ansaru Allah Community also known as the Nubian Islamic Hebrews AAC NIH and later the Nuwaubians is a deeply significant and controversial African American Muslim movement Founded in Brooklyn in the 1960s it spread through the prolific production and dissemination of literature and lecture tapes and became famous for continuously reinventing its belief system In this book Michael Muhammad Knight studies the development of AAC NIH discourse over a period of thirty years tracing a surprising consistency behind a facade of serial reinvention It is popularly believed that the AAC NIH community abandoned Islam for Black Israelite religion UFO religion and Egyptosophy However Knight sees coherence in AAC NIH media explaining how in reality the community taught that the Prophet Muhammad was a Hebrew who adhered to Israelite law Muhammad's heavenly ascension took place on a spaceship and Abraham enlisted the help of a pharaonic regime to genetically engineer pigs as food for white people Against narratives that treat the AAC NIH community as a postmodernist deconstruction of religious categories Knight demonstrates that AAC NIH discourse is most productively framed within a broader African American metaphysical history in which boundaries between traditions remain quite permeable Unexpected and engrossing Metaphysical Africa brings to light points of intersection between communities and traditions often regarded as separate and distinct In doing so it helps move the field of religious studies beyond conventional categories of orthodoxy and heterodoxy challenging assumptions that inform not only the study of this particular religious community but also the field at large Building States Eva-Maria

Muschik, 2022-04-13 Postwar multilateral cooperation is often viewed as an attempt to overcome the limitations of the nation state system However in 1945 when the United Nations was founded large parts of the world were still under imperial control Building States investigates how the UN tried to manage the dissolution of European empires in the 1950s and 1960s and helped transform the practice of international development and the meaning of state sovereignty in the process Eva Maria Muschik argues that the UN played a key role in the global proliferation and reinvention of the nation state in the postwar era as newly independent states came to rely on international assistance Drawing on previously untapped primary sources she traces how UN personnel usually in close consultation with Western officials sought to manage decolonization peacefully through international development assistance Examining initiatives in Libya Somaliland Bolivia the Congo and New York Muschik shows how the UN pioneered a new understanding and practice of state building presented as a technical challenge for international experts rather than a political process UN officials increasingly took on public policy functions despite the organization's mandate not to interfere in the domestic affairs of its member states These initiatives Muschik suggests had lasting effects on international development practice peacekeeping and post conflict territorial administration Casting new light on how international organizations became major players in the governance of developing countries

Building States has significant implications for the histories of decolonization the Cold War and international development
