

05.01 European Geography

—What was the major change in European government between 1650 and 1850?

The period 1815 to 1850 was a time of significant political and social change in Europe, and during this time, the responses of European governments to the rise of nationalism varied widely. Some governments embraced nationalism and used it to promote their own agendas, while others sought to suppress nationalist movements and maintain their own power and authority. One of the most significant differences between European governments' responses to nationalism during this period was the degree to which they were willing to tolerate nationalist movements. Some governments, such as those in Italy, Germany, and Poland, were more receptive to nationalist demands and sought to incorporate nationalist movements into the political process. In these countries, nationalist leaders were often able to secure significant political concessions and achieve significant levels of autonomy and self-rule.

—What parts of Europe have seen the most changes in political geography (borders) between 1650 and today?

Many parts of Europe have experienced changes in political geography since 1650. Some of the regions that have seen the most significant changes in borders include:

Central and Eastern Europe: This region has experienced multiple changes in borders due to various conflicts, including the Napoleonic Wars, World War I and World War II, and the collapse of the Soviet Union.

The Balkans: The Balkans have seen frequent changes in borders due to ethnic and religious conflicts, including the dissolution of Yugoslavia in the 1990s.

Central and Western Europe: This region has experienced some changes in borders due to events such as the Congress of Vienna in 1815, which redrew the map of Europe after the Napoleonic Wars, and the reunification of Germany in 1990.
