Hanna-Barbera Jared Bahir Browsh, 2022-01-11 With careers spanning eight decades William Hanna and Joseph Barbera were two of the most prolific animation producers in American history In 1940 the two met at MGM and created Tom and Jerry who would earn 14 Academy Award nominations and seven wins The growth of television led to the founding of Hanna Barbera's legendary studio that produced countless hours of cartoons with beloved characters from Fred Flintstone George Jetson and Scooby Doo to the Super Friends and the Smurfs Prime time animated sitcoms Saturday morning cartoons and Cartoon Network's cable animation are some of the many areas of television revolutionized by the team Their productions are critical to our cultural history reflecting ideologies and trends in both media and society This book offers a complete company history and examines its productions influences changing technologies and enduring cultural legacy with careful attention to Hanna Barbera's problematic record of racial and gender representation Library of Congress

Catalog: Motion Pictures and Filmstrips Library of Congress, 1968 The Outline of Knowledge: The history of the world James Albert Richards, 1924 Canada's Residential Schools: The History, Part 2, 1939 to 2000 Commission de vérité et réconciliation du Canada, 2016-01-01 Between 1867 and 2000 the Canadian government sent over 150 000 Aboriginal children to residential schools across the country Government officials and missionaries agreed that in order to civilize and Christianize Aboriginal children it was necessary to separate them from their parents and their home communities For children life in these schools was lonely and alien Discipline was harsh and daily life was highly regimented Aboriginal languages and cultures were denigrated and suppressed Education and technical training too often gave way to the drudgery of doing the chores necessary to make the schools self sustaining Child neglect was institutionalized and the lack of supervision created situations where students were prey to sexual and physical abusers Legal action by the schools former students led to the creation of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada in 2008 The product of over six years of research the Commission's final report outlines the history and legacy of the schools and charts a pathway towards reconciliation Canada's Residential Schools The History Part 2 1939 to 2000 carries the story of the residential school system from the end of the Great Depression to the closing of the last remaining schools in the late 1990s It demonstrates that the underfunding and unsafe living conditions that characterized the early history of the schools continued into an era of unprecedented growth and prosperity for most Canadians A miserly funding formula meant that into the late 1950s school meals fell short of the Canada Food Rules Overcrowding poor sanitation and a failure to adhere to fire safety rules were common problems throughout this period While government officials had come to view the schools as costly and inefficient the churches were reluctant to countenance their closure It was not until the late 1960s that the federal government finally wrested control of the system away from the churches Government plans to turn First Nations education over to the provinces met with opposition from Aboriginal organizations that were seeking Indian Control of Indian Education Following parent led occupation of a school in Alberta many of the remaining schools came under Aboriginal administration The closing of the schools coincided with a growing number of convictions of former staff members on charges of sexually abusing students These trials revealed the degree to which sexual abuse at the schools had been covered up in the past Former students who came to refer to themselves as Survivors established regional and national organizations and provided much of the leadership for the campaign that led to the federal government issuing in 2008 an apology to the former students and their families Research in Education ,1972 Public Documents of Massachusetts Massachusetts,1881
