Mormonism and the Emotions Mauro Properzi, 2015-05-21 Mormonism and the Emotions An Analysis of LDS Scriptural Texts is an introductory Latterday Saint LDS theology of emotion that is both canonically based and scientifically informed It highlights three widely accepted characteristics of emotion that emerge from scientific perspectives namely the necessity of cognition for its emergence the personal responsibility attached to its manifestations and its instrumentality in facilitating various processes of human development and experience In analyzing the basic theological structure of Mormonism and its unique canonical texts the objective is to determine the extent to which LDS theology is compatible with this three fold definition of emotion At this basic level of explanation the conclusion is that science and Mormon theology undoubtedly share a common perspective The textual investigation focuses on unique Mormon scriptures and on their descriptions of six common emotions hope fear joy sorrow love and hate For each of these emotional phenomena the extensive report of textual references consistently confirms an implied presence of the outlined three fold model of emotion Thus the evidence points to the presence of an underlying folk model of emotion in the text that broadly matches scientific definitions Additionally the theological examination is enlarged with a particular focus on the Mormon theology of atonement which is shown to play a significant role in LDS understandings of emotions A broad exploration of such areas as epistemology cosmology soteriology and the theological anthropology of Mormonism further contextualizes the analysis and roots it in the LDS theological worldview Learning That Transfers Julie Stern, Krista Ferraro, Kayla Duncan, Trevor Aleo, 2021-03-30 It is a pleasure to have a full length treatise on this most important topic and may this focus on transfer become much more debated taught and valued in our schools John Hattie Teach students to use their learning to unlock new situations How do you prepare your students for a future that you can't see And how do you do it without exhausting yourself Teachers need a framework that allows them to keep pace with our rapidly changing world without having to overhaul everything they do Learning That Transfers empowers teachers and curriculum designers alike to harness the critical concepts of traditional disciplines while building students capacity to navigate interpret and transfer their learning to solve novel and complex modern problems Using a backwards design approach this hands on guide walks teachers step by step through the process of identifying curricular goals establishing assessment targets and planning curriculum and instruction that facilitates the transfer of learning to new and challenging situations Key features include Thinking prompts to spur reflection and inform curricular planning and design Next day strategies that offer tips for practical immediate action in the classroom Design steps that outline critical moments in creating curriculum for learning that transfers Links to case studies discipline specific examples and podcast interviews with educators A companion website that hosts templates planning guides and flexible options for adapting current curriculum documents Using a framework that combines standards and the best available research on how we learn design curriculum and instruction that prepares your students to meet the challenges of an uncertain future while addressing the unique needs of your school community The Oxford Handbook of Religion, Conflict, and Peacebuilding Atalia Omer, R. Scott Appleby, David Little, 2015-01-28 This volume provides a comprehensive and interdisciplinary account of the scholarship on religion conflict and peacebuilding Looking far beyond the traditional parameters of the field the contributors engage deeply with the legacies of colonialism missionary activism secularism orientalism and liberalism as they relate to the discussion of religion violence and nonviolent transformation and resistance Featuring numerous case studies from various contexts and traditions the volume is organized thematically into five different parts It begins with an up to date mapping of scholarship on religion and violence and religion and peace The second part explores the challenges related to developing secularist theories on peace and nationalism broadening the discussion of violence to include an analysis of cultural and structural forms In the third section the chapters explore controversial topics such as religion and development religious militancy and the freedom of religion as a keystone of peacebuilding The fourth part locates notions of peacebuilding in spiritual practice by focusing on constructive resources within various traditions the transformative role of rituals youth and interfaith activism in American university campuses religion and solidarity activism scriptural reasoning as a peacebuilding practice and an extended reflection on the history and legacy of missionary peacebuilding The volume concludes by looking to the future of peacebuilding scholarship and the possibilities for new growth and progress Bringing together a diverse array of scholars this innovative handbook grapples with the tension between theory and practice cultural theory and the legacy of the liberal peace paradigm offering provocative elastic and context specific insights for strategic peacebuilding processes
