International Trade Negotiations and Domestic Politics Oluf Langhelle, 2013-08-29 In spite of many years of negotiation on trade liberalization progress seems to have stalled This book explores why resistance to further market liberalization seems so strong given that the benefits are seen to outweigh the costs This volume argues that in order to understand the slow progress of World Trade Organization negotiations we need to take into consideration the intermestic character of trade politics that is the way in which international and domestic aspects of politics and policies have been woven together and become inextricably related to each other. This is a general trend in our globalizing world and one that is most pronounced in the case of trade politics and policy. International Trade Negotiations and Domestic Politics therefore presents an in depth analysis of institutions ideas interests and actors in the interplay between international trade negotiations and national negotiating positions. At the international level the authors focus on the multilateral negotiations within the World Trade Organization together with the plurilateral and bilateral negotiations on free trade agreements. At the regional and domestic level they analyze the trade politics and policies of two established powers the European Union and the USA two rising powers China and India and a small industrialized country with an open economy Norway.

Ideas, Institutions, and Trade Carsten Daugbjerg,Alan Swinbank,2009-09-03 Agriculture has a small and declining importance in employment and income generation within the EU but a political importance well beyond its economic impact The EU s common agricultural policy CAP has often been the source of conflict between the EU and its trade partners within first the GATT and then the WTO In the Doha Round agriculture was again a sticking point resulting in setbacks and delays The position of the EU is pivotal Due to the comparatively limited competitiveness of the EU s agricultural sector and the EU s institutionally constrained ability to undertake CAP reform the CAP sets limits for agricultural trade liberalization blocking progress across the full compass of the WTO agenda Therefore the farm trade negotiation with the CAP at its core is the key to understanding the dynamics of trade rounds in the WTO The book written by a political scientist and an agricultural economist applies theory on ideas to explain how the agricultural sector came to be included in the Single Undertaking that resulted in the Uruguay Round agreements and how this led to a dynamic interplay between CAP reform and the possibility of further agricultural trade liberalization within the WTO thereby providing useful insights into international trade relations
