Unit 9 Reading Guide

Unit 9.1 + 9.2

Key Ideas:

- The process of globalization increased the use of fossil fuels and alternative energy sources. Increased transportation and economic activity meant more production, demand on natural resources, and the negative environmental effects of fuel usage.
- The process of globalization made the world more interconnected than ever before. Transportation and communication technologies were the two most significant technological developments in the process of globalization.
- Increase globalization led to increased movement of people, which in turn led to the rapid spread of disease. Population growth, particularly in urban areas, also fueled disease outbreaks - most often with low-income populations and those in the developing world.
- As populations grow and people live longer, the world is witnessing an increase in "diseases of longevity" - that occur later in life. These diseases are often connected with the human body's natural decline into old age.
- Genetic engineering and bio-engineering allowed scientists to adapt natural resources to the needs/demands of human activity. This led to a transformation in the way food is grown/produced, the creation of new medicines/vaccines, and healthcare services (surgeries, nutrition, etc.).
