Critical Appraisal of Physical Science as a Human Enterprise Mansoor Niaz,2009-02-07 It is generally believed that doing science means accumulating empirical data with no or little reference to the interpretation of the data based on the scientist's theoretical framework or presuppositions Holton 1969a has deplored the widely accepted myth of experimentalism according to which progress in science is presented as the inexorable result of the pursuit of logically sound conclusions from unambiguous experimental data Surprisingly some of the leading scientists themselves Millikan is a good example have contributed to perpetuate the myth with respect to modern science being essentially empirical that is carefully tested experimental facts free of a priori conceptions leading to inductive generalizations Based on the existing knowledge in a field of research a scientist formulates the guiding assumptions Laudan et al 1988 presuppositions Holton 1978 1998 and hard core Lakatos 1970 of the research program that constitutes the imperative of presuppositions which is not abandoned in the face of anomalous data Laudan and his group consider the following paraphrase of Kant by Lakatos as an important guideline philosophy of science without history of science is empty Starting in the 1960s this historical school has attempted to redraw and replace the positivist or logical empiricist image of science that dominated for the first half of the twentieth century Among other aspects one that looms large in these studies is that of guiding assumptions and has considerable implications for the main thesis of this monograph Chapter 2 Science in History J. D. Bernal,2012-10-04 J D Bernal's monumental work Science in History was the first full attempt to analyse the reciprocal relations of science and society throughout history from the perfection of the flint hand axe to the hydrogen bomb In this remarkable study he illustrates the impetus given to and the limitations placed upon discovery and invention by pastoral agricultural feudal capitalist and socialist systems and conversely the ways in which science has altered economic social and political beliefs and practices In this first volume Bernal discusses the nature and method of science before describing its emergence in the Stone Age its full formation by the Greeks and its continuing growth probably influenced from China under Christendom and Islam in the Middle Ages Andrew Brown Bernal's biographer with a nice sense of paradox has said of him he was steeped in history in part because he was always thinking about the future He goes on to say Science in History is an encyclopaedic yet individual and colourful account of the emergence of science from pre-historic times There is detailed coverage of the scientific revolution of the Enlightenment the Industrial Age and the first two thirds of the twentieth century The writing flows and is devoid of the tortured idioms that mar so many academic histories of science After reading it it is easy to agree with C P Snow's orotund observation that Bernal was the last man to know science Faber Finds are reissuing the illustrated four volume edition first published by Penguin in 1969 The four volumes are Volume 1 The Emergence of Science Volume 2 The Scientific and Industrial Revolutions Volume 3 The Natural Sciences in Our Time Volume 4 The Social Sciences Conclusion This stupendous work is a magnificent synoptic view of the rise of science and its impact on society which leaves the reader awe struck by Professor Bernal's encyclopaedic knowledge and historical sweep Times Literary Supplement
