Hi! I'm your host, Robert Darden. Welcome to Treasures of the Texas Collection.

When speaking of his own profession as a poet, Joseph Brodsky said, "Poetry is rather an approach to things, to life, than it is typographical production." So today, we invite you to take a journey with us and spend a little time listening to how some of our fellow Texans have "approached" life.

We'll hear from well-known poets such as Red Steagall but also from a number of lesser-known talents. Writer Petra Carey is here today to share some of their works with us.

Welcome, Petra. What can you tell us about Texas poets and their works?

Thank you for having me today. One thing that can be said about Texas poetry is that it's diverse, reflecting a variety of cultures. But any Lone Star resident can relate to the poems because of the common Texan thread that runs throughout each, whether it's cowboy or Chicana poetry.

No matter our walk of life, we all know what it is to be Texan. Or so they say.

That's right, Bob.

You know, a political scientist once said that when people from the United States go to a foreign country and they're asked where they're from, they respond, "I'm from America." But ask Texans in a foreign country that same question, and they'll say, "I'm from Texas." There's a bit of pride and nationalism in the response; they expect foreigners to have some knowledge of the state. And the funny thing is, most of the time they do.

So today, there's no better place to start than with a poem by Peggy Lynch titled, "A True Texan."

Let's hear it.
