Minding the Achievement Gap One Classroom at a Time Jane E. Pollock, Sharon M. Ford, Margaret M.

Black, 2012-05-11 The achievement gap is a persistent and perplexing challenge for educators. While school and system level reforms continue to be discussed in statehouses and district offices, individual teachers are challenged to do something now to help students who are falling short of standards, including students who are English language learners and receiving special education services. A companion to the ASCD best seller Improving Student Learning One Teacher at a Time, this book identifies small, specific adjustments to planning, teaching, and assessment practices that will support more effective learning in every student every day and help close the achievement gap on a classroom-by-classroom basis. Here you will learn how to use readily available tools, curriculum documents, a plan book, and a grade book to improve all students' access to interaction with and mastery of lesson content. Design daily lessons that clarify learning goals and require students to use high-yield learning strategies. Seek feedback and reflect on their progress. Promote the progress of English language learners through coordinated pursuit of content and language goals and synchronize instruction to improve the performance of special education students in both co-teaching and resource environments. This book also features the voices of working educators who share how minding the gap has helped them engage academically at-risk students, ELLs, and special education students, improve students' test scores, and sustain these gains over time. If you are a classroom teacher or specialist committed to helping all your students become more successful learners and unwilling to wait for high-level solutions or even the results of another data retreat, then this is just the resource you need.

Apocalyptic Leadership in Education Vachel W.

Miller, 2017-03-01 Mainstream educational leadership has lost much of its footing as a progressive practice. More managers than wisdom keepers, educational leaders no longer have authority to critique the toxicities of the present and imagine alternative futures In public schools and higher education the neoliberal emphasis on measurable outcomes shrinks the radius of concern for what educational leaders are leading toward There s a planet missing in mainstream discourses of sustainability in educational leadership and this book aims to resituate the work of teaching leading in the place where we stand In a period of overlapping social environmental crises this book takes inspiration from Robert Jensen s call for teachers and intellectual leaders to go apocalyptic i e to face head on the calamities that threaten our shared future on Earth When leadership is situated within an apocalyptic context we are called to reflect on educational injustice and unsustainability while envisioning more hopeful futures The work of apocalyptic leadership though isn t all about future vision it s also about attending to what hurts and what heals in the present moment Intended for aspiring and practicing educational leaders in both K 12 and higher education settings as well as scholars in the fields of social justice and sustainability this book begins mapping and traversing the affective spiritual pragmatic and organizational geography of apocalyptic leadership Such leadership holds dear the radical belief in our shared capacity to work gracefully with the painful awareness that tremendous challenges are inevitable and yet we have every opportunity for inching toward a more habitable future Writing
