

Community Service Reflection

I have participated in several volunteer activities that involve interacting and teaching children. In all three of the service experiences I oversaw students in discussion and learning activities. The first service was teaching young children at 4H day camps. We had several topics for each camp including physical and science related learning objectives. The staff would assist students with art projects and help them to solve games related to information they had just learned. I did these camps for about a week and totaled 15 hours. The second service experience was at the Cookie University event here at DSU. This event allowed me to assist young girl scouts in discussion about basic needs and wants. This let them understand the difference between what is necessary in our lives and what is not. This service totaled to about 6 hours. The third and last service was here in Madison at the Community Center. I volunteered at the After-School Program where I got to interact with and teach young students about games, books, and activities. This is also where I intend to work throughout college. This place is fun, instructive, and a great volunteer experience that I would recommend to anyone looking for volunteer hours. These hours totaled to about 9 and one-half hours.

These experiences have prepared me to be an educator in several different ways. Being with the children and staff at the 4H sponsored events allowed me to be an example to children. I got to show them how we use new information and include it into our everyday lives. We learned about science, bugs, and exercise and why all these things are so important to everyone. You could see the excitement each of these children had while learning. It was like watching a light bulb turn on. I think that interacting with children in environments like this is so important to the growth of a teacher. This early start teaches us to be more patient and understanding. When children stumble on their words, people often like to cut them off, finish their sentence for them, or just become irritated. I find that the more times you put yourself out into the education field and experience things like this, the more often you find yourself being compassionate and more patient. Being in these classrooms has helped my patience so much.

While working at the Cookie University, I got to observe the different ways that children try to assist each other. They were put into groups and had cards with names of basic human needs and everyday wants on them. Together they had to decipher what was most important to bring with them to start a new planet. I heard a lot of discussion about these things and found that many of these kids knew what they were talking about. If one kid said that they shouldn't bring an item, another would give their input and say why it is necessary to bring it. I want to use exercises like these that make children think together and collaborate in my own classroom someday. I want to be able to teach team work, especially to those who do not experience team work on a field or a court.

Meeting the kids at the After-School Program was a real treat. I met some very nice kids and some very sassy kids. Both of which taught me valuable things. I learned different ways to interact with different types of children. I saw that some kids liked to be left alone at times and others could not handle it if your attention was not on them. In my classroom, someday, I hope to get to know my students so well that they trust me with whatever is on their minds. I want to be someone that they can go to if life becomes troubling or they just need a friend. These practice to document and improve student learning Social Work and Service Learning Meryl Nadel, Virginia Majewski, Marilyn Sullivan-Cosetti, 2007 Service learning and social work education comprise an exciting yet underutilized partnership This book represents the first comprehensive overview of this active and empowering approach to learning in social work Both educators and practitioners will discover conceptual and practical guidance for developing productive community based projects Often envisioned as located at the midpoint on a continuum from volunteer work to internship service learning combines the opportunity to serve with the opportunity to learn It offers community agencies a chance to collaborate with academic colleagues to meet identified community needs frequently with an explicit social justice dimension The contributors illustrate how service learning facilitates students understanding and interacting with community members as partners not clients Service learning encourages students to use critical thinking skills to reflect on their work and its implications This combination of study action reflection in conjunction with course content is highly effective The book explores its subject from several perspectives The first section serves as a conceptual and theoretical orientation to service learning in social work The second section offers models that illustrate many ways of implementing service learning across the components of the social work curriculum The final two parts of the book focus on evaluation and service learning in the broader context of civic engagement Gender Identity, Equity, and Violence Geraldine B. Stahly, 2023-07-03 The authors of the thirteen chapters in this volume bring excitement and innovations to teaching about gender from a wide range of theoretical and discipline perspectives They exhibit the inclusiveness that is central to feminist pedagogy a perspective that centers the educational enterprise in the analysis of the interconnectedness of social categories that have traditionally divided and given root to inequality and oppression and aims for no less than social transformation Empowerment is a core value in gender education and the experiential approach nurtures that goal This volume provides many examples of the power of learning through experience as the authors demonstrate that the authority of the feminist teacher as intellectual and theorist finds expression in the goal of making students themselves theorists of their own lives by interrogating and analyzing their own experience Weiler 1991 To stimulate the adaptation of the approaches described in these books each volume includes an Activity Methodology table that summarizes key elements of each example such as class size pedagogy and other disciplinary applications Reflective Practice for Coaches Iain McCormick, 2023-02-22 This practical evidence based guide to running Reflective Practice professional development programmes provides a dynamic and engaging resource for a wide range of coaches Reflective Practice is a proven learning and development approach that involves consciously and deliberately thinking about experiences to develop insights and apply these within coaching practice McCormick argues that it is vital that coaches regularly reflect on their work to develop and grow professionally and this book provides a definitive and rich source of material on how and what to reflect on Topics include how to reflect as an individual coach working in pairs and small groups applying reflective practice in a training context and how to run advanced group sessions for coaches

The book features a wide range of practical workbook exercises to challenge the reader's current practice and extend their capability as well as an evidence-based guide to enhancing skills in recently developed areas such as Unified Protocol Cognitive Behavioural Therapy, Internet-Supplemented Acceptance and Commitment Therapy, and Using Schema Therapy with Mindfulness Techniques. Written by a highly experienced executive coach, this book is full of practical and effective ways to become more capable and proficient. It is essential reading for any career life or executive coach who wishes to enhance their coaching capability through reflective practice as well as for coaching training organisations, senior executive coaches offering sessions for other coaches, and academic institutions offering coaching qualifications.
